City Woman Revisits Russia

This is the second in a series of articles on Russia by Mrs. Graham Odgers, wife of Dr. Graham Odgers, senior scientific officer at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich. Dr. and Mrs. Odgers spent several months in Russia in 1961; their second trip in three years.

By MRS. PAMELA ODGERS

On arrival in Moscow my husband had lots of news—not all of it good. But we were in the best hotel, the Sovietskaya, and had a private bathroom so life could not be so bad.

He had met and shaken hands with spaceman Gagarin and had seen the May Day parade and a bristling armaments of the peace-loving Soviet forces. The flight to the Crimea had been very cheap, but he was glad to get back to Moscow where there was more food, more variety and more cream. He had had no mail at all. Although food was bad, people were friendly within limits and humorous, too, like the waiter in the hotel at Yalta.

After several days of eating cottage cheese and soup, Graham said, "I would like some meat, please. On the menu it says 'beefsteak'."

"Sorry, no meat."

"Then some vegetables."

"Sorry, no vegetables."

"Then why do you have a menu if there is nothing to eat?"

'The New Russia'

The waiter smiles and says, "Ah, you should not judge Russia by this restaurant. We are sorry. The real Russia, the new Russia is being built in Asia, in the Virgin Lands. All our young people go there, they are building socialism, they are planting new fields—the land of the future."

"Oh. And what do they have on the menu there? In Asia there is no menu!"

Next day Graham had a small piece of pork.

The astronauts were friendly and anxious to please and when talking about food they mentioned optimistically that there was a machine, an espresso coffee machine from Italy in another hotel in Yalta. So one day Graham went to the hotel, but, alas, the machine was broken and no one knew how to mend it. No coffee. While they were friendly up to a point, it was very obvious that they could not go beyond that.

On one occasion Graham mentioned to a colleague who had a car that he would like to go to the old Tartar capital Bukhara and the man agreed to take him. The days passed and nothing happened. Graham even offered to pay for the gas, and the man passed Graham walking along the road but he never picked him up.

They're Careful

Many small incidents like this hurt our feelings at first, but we ultimately realized that they dare not be too friendly to a person from the West. There is no more terror now, but it could be quickly reimposed and they have to be careful.

Our room in the Sovietskaya was very comfortable, overlooking a large courtyard where mud turned to dust during the month of May. The leaves on the trees burst open and grew large very quickly. There was no grass anywhere. Apartment buildings backed on the square and children played.

SNAG IN PEACE TALKS MAY DELAY CEASE-FIRE

EVIAN, France (UPI)—The French-Algerian peace talks slowed down sharply after hitting a series of snags today. Conference sources said a cease-fire agreement now may be delayed by several days.

PARIS (Reuters)—A 30-minute protest strike against extremist terrorism tied up Paris today as the government banned private plane flights to forestall rightist attacks when an Algerian peace treaty is signed.

The strike, called by students and Roman Catholic, socialist, and Communist trade unions, stopped subways and buses and closed factories and offices.

The strike was in protest against Saturday's extremist blast in which a truckload of explosives blew up outside a pro-Communist "movement for peace" meeting, killing three persons and wounding about 50.

RASMINSKY REPORTS

'Cheap' Dollar Economic Spur

OTTAWA (CP)—The decline in the Canadian dollar's value has given the country a special opportunity to tackle the job of economic adjustment, Louis Rasminsky said today in his first annual report as governor of the Bank of Canada.

To seize the chance, Canada must avoid a fresh upsurge of prices and costs and "vigorously exploit the opportunities for new business now available," he said in the report tabled in the Commons by Finance Minister Fleming.

Mr. Rasminsky, who succeeded James Coyne as governor last July 24, said the decline in the exchange value of the Canadian dollar—now worth just over 95 cents in U.S. funds—has improved "the international competitive position of Canadian industry."

The world of today was "highly and increasingly competitive."

"We in Canada cannot escape this world trend, and the real determinant of our prosperity and welfare will be our ability to compete in a world of rapidly rising standards of economic productivity and efficiency."

He listed the basic requirements: "A well-trained, energetic and adaptable working population, dynamic business leadership, the imaginative application of modern technology, good marketing practices, and perhaps above all the determination to be competitive."

If those basic factors were missing, variations in the foreign exchange rate or other kinds of financial management could not compensate for their absence.

The governor outlined the reasons for last year's major increase in money supply—up nine per cent, or $1,250,000,000, to a level of $15,163,000,000 at year's end.

Mr. Rasminsky, 53, said that when he took office economic activity was rising but there was "a great deal of unemployment and unused plant capacity."

Guerrillas Killed

SAIGON (AP)—About 200 Communist guerrillas were killed, mostly in air strikes, during a three-day offensive by South Viet Nam government forces in the Mekong River delta, an informant said today.

Rail Strike Vote

CHICAGO (AP)—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen announced today a strike vote will be taken among its 80,000 members in a dispute involving proposed changes in working rules on the major United States railroads.

Surgery for Eden

BOSTON (UPI)—The Lohy Clinic today announced that surgeons would perform an exploratory operation late today on Britain's former prime minister, Anthony Eden. Officials said that during a check-up, a "lesion, unrelated to previous illnesses, was found in his chest."

Settlement Close

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. Sture C. Linner, formerly in charge of United Nations operations in the Congo, said today the Central Congolese government and Katanga were "fairly close" to settlement of their differences.

Red Satellites Call for Summit

Reds Wound Britisher in Berlin

BERLIN (Reuters)—A British airman was reported in improved condition today following an operation for stomach wounds suffered Saturday night when East German police pumped 30 bullets into a British military car.

Medical officials in the Potsdam Hospital said the blood pressure and breathing of RAF Cpl. Douglas Day were "back almost to normal." But they said "complications could still occur in this type of wound."

Day, a driver for the British military mission in East Germany, was hit when the Communists shot at the car about half a mile from the West Berlin border near Potsdam.

An officer riding in the car, Lt.-Col. Nicholas Browne, 40, escaped unhurt.

A British spokesman said a Russian liaison officer had expressed his regret to the British mission over "the incident and said it would be investigated. The British also are making an investigation."

The spokesman said the car was fired on "for no reason at all." He denied an East German

Formula Mixup Fatal

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—A seventh baby died today, apparently of poisoning from salt placed in a sugar can in a city-owned hospital. Ten other infants were stricken, three critically.

Death claimed Michele Dawn Bowser, four days old, of Binghamton, as investigators sought to pinpoint the cause of the other deaths.

The salt apparently was used by mistake in place of sugar in the infants' feeding formula at Binghamton General Hospital.

A licensed practical nurse, Mrs. Lillie Colvin, 29, who refilled the sugar container last Tuesday for the formula room was suspended by District Attorney Stephen Smyk.

NEW YORK TALKS Set by Bennett

Premier Bennett will leave for power talks in Ottawa this weekend, and then he will go to New York, he disclosed today.

But apart from that he was uninformative when reporters questioned him about latest developments on the Columbia River project.

"I'm very pleased about the way things are going on power," was all he would affirm.

He had no comment about reports that Ottawa was promising a new deal involving outright grants to finance the project.

Neither would he say anything about the "unimpeachable sources" which at the weekend said U.S. power officials had rebuffed his attempt to get a guarantee that they would buy Canada's share of Columbia downstream benefits.

MONEY AVAILABLE

He wouldn't say why he was going to New York, but agreed that money was "available" and "arranged" for B.C. to finance the Columbia project on its own.

The trip to New York could be to complete these arrangements.

Mr. Bennett will meet Prime Minister Diefenbaker next Monday, along with other provincial premiers, to discuss a national power grid.

The shooting climaxed a day in which Russian planes released strips of aluminum foil over East Germany in an apparent attempt to disrupt Western radar control over air corridors linking West Berlin with West Germany.

The Russians also stepped up their flights in the vital corridors but today their air traffic was reduced to "a normal of less than 10 flights," allied officials said.

The officials also said there was no further dropping today of aluminum foil strips.

Open Mind Retained On Canada Bank Rate

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor Louis Rasminsky said today he is keeping an open mind on the question of how the Bank of Canada should set its bank rate.

Mr. Rasminsky said in his annual report that since he took office last July he has given "much consideration" to this question and discussed it with the chartered banks.

He said he hopes and expects that those interested in the question will make their views known to the royal commission on banking and finance, which opened its first hearings today in Victoria, B.C. (See story Page 15.)

Soviet Offers To Limit A-Arms 'Club'

LONDON (Reuters)—The Soviet Union is prepared to promise not to hand over nuclear weapons to other countries, providing the United States, Britain and France assume identical obligations, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said today.

Gromyko's statement was contained in a letter to Acting Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations and quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Recalling Soviet appeals to the U.S., Britain and other countries to sign a solemn and unconditional undertaking to renounce the use of nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction, Gromyko said:

"The Soviet government learned with particular satisfaction that the United Nations has now pronounced in favor of such an undertaking."

Conclusion of the agreement would help relax international tension, strengthen the trust between states, and, most important, solve the problem of general and complete disarmament, he said.

"The Soviet government considers that there is no reason for putting off such an agreement."

Gromyko also called on all non-nuclear nations to promise not to produce or acquire atomic arms or permit such weapons to be stationed on their territory.

He said Russia was prepared "to render every assistance" to plans for making nuclear-free zones in Africa, Central Europe, the East and Pacific, the Near and Middle East, the Balkans and Adriatic "and other areas of the world."

All the major powers joined Dec. 4 in the unanimous adoption at the UN General Assembly in New York of a "solution calling for an international agreement under which the world's nuclear powers would refrain from handing over nuclear weapons to non-nuclear countries, provided these countries pledged to refrain from making or otherwise acquiring the weapons."

In a second letter to Thant, Gromyko said Russia attached great importance to the calling of a special conference to sign a pact banning the use of nuclear weapons.

The letters were replies to earlier letters from Thant asking for the Soviet opinion on the calling of an international conference to sign a pact banning the use of nuclear weapons and the Soviet position on an agreement to prevent the spread of atomic arms to non-nuclear countries.

At a dinner with Rusk and Home Sunday night, Gromyko denied knowledge of Soviet harassment of air traffic in the air corridors between West Berlin and West Germany.

These Russian actions, including the seeding of the air lanes with metal chaff, are viewed in a serious light by the U.S. and British delegations. Rusk and Home delivered personal warnings on this question.

There was some speculation among Western diplomats that the Soviets were trying to provoke the United States, Britain and France into some drastic counter action in Berlin.

'Go All Out' Says Fulton

VANCOUVER (CP)—The federal government will go all out in pending meetings with Premier Bennett in an attempt to pave the way for development of the Columbia River.

Justice Minister Fulton said Sunday.

The minister said Finance Minister Fleming will ask the premier to meet him when Mr. Bennett goes east for the March 19 federal-provincial conference on a national power grid.

The developments came as Attorney-General Bonner hinted Sunday that a limited number of troops may be brought into southeastern B.C. to put a psychological damper on terrorist activities which have plagued the area for more than 30 years.

The prime minister said it was under investigation.

'New Plan' on Terrorism Promised by Bonner Today

NELSON (CP)—Five more Sons of Freedom Doughbobs are in police custody today, one of them a prominent member of the sect's governing fraternal council.

At the same time RCMP were questioning two suspects in the bombing last week of a giant power pylon on the east shore of Kootenay Lake.

The fraternal council member picked up in the last police sweep was Cecil Tomlin, about 48, of Grand Forks, said to be one of the wealthiest members of the sect. He was charged with blasting a railway track in August, 1954, and was released on $30,000 bail.

Six other council members were arrested earlier and charged with obstructing justice.

Arrested with Tomlin at the weekend were the brothers Bill and John Novokschoneff, charged with attempted arson last July; Lloyd Storgoff, charged with blasting a power pole in 1953 and John Lebedoff, charged with putting a bomb on a railway track in 1954.

The Governor prorogued the House of Assembly by proclamation to March 19.

The Tiger engine company of the fire department at its meeting last evening decided to give a parade on May Day, and also a ball in the evening. The two other fire companies of Victoria and Hyack engine company, New Westminster, will be invited to join in the festivities.

The jail population today stands at 31, including two debtors and two lunatics.

Workmen commenced to lay the main pipes for bringing gas into town along Store Street, from the gas house. It is expected Johnson Street will be reached by March 18.

Rusk Meets With Gromyko At Geneva

GENEVA (AP)—American State Secretary Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko spent three hours today discussing Berlin and disarmament problems without reaching any settlement.

British Foreign Secretary Home bowed out of the talks temporarily.

The discussions took place over lunch at the Soviet villa. Both men were accompanied by experts.

Rusk and Home later met Italian Foreign Minister Segni and Canadian representative Gen. E. L. M. Burns for a discussion of Western tactics at the conference.

A British source said Lord Home has stepped aside to let Rusk make the initial moves in the Western conversations with the Russians. This is a logical development, the informant said, since Britain and the United States are speaking here with one voice.

At a dinner with Rusk and Home Sunday night, Gromyko denied knowledge of Soviet harassment of air traffic in the air corridors between West Berlin and West Germany.

These Russian actions, including the seeding of the air lanes with metal chaff, are viewed in a serious light by the U.S. and British delegations. Rusk and Home delivered personal warnings on this question.

Indo-China Truce Team Members

OTTAWA (CP)—Nine Canadians—military and civilian—engaged in the smuggling of gold and opium within Indo-China, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today in the Commons.

The Canadians were serving with the international truce supervisory commissions in Indo-China. Seven were military and two were external affairs department clerks.

Mr. Diefenbaker said one Canadian commissioned officer and one non-commissioned officer were engaged in smuggling of gold.

Five other ranks were engaged in the smuggling of gold or opium.

Disciplinary action had been taken against these service personnel before their return to Canada.

The two external affairs department clerks had been recalled, suspended and would be dismissed.

The prime minister said the smuggling was discovered late last year.

DENIES CHARGE

Mr. Diefenbaker denied pre-statements attributed to Erhart Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) that Indo-China was a major source of narcotics supply for the North American continent.

"There is no evidence whatever that narcotics were smuggled into Canada by any member of the three truce commissions," the prime minister said.

He also noted that Mr. Regier was reported in the press to have suggested that mass arrests on narcotics charges in British Columbia were connected with the Indo-China smuggling.

"Again, on the information that we have, that statement is completely mistaken."

Opium was the only narcotic involved and the authorities had said that it is rarely if ever handled by narcotics dealers in Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker said his statement is a full and complete one based on the investigations of the defence department into the activities of the RCMP into the activities of the two civilians.

The prime minister said that if any member of Parliament is in possession of any information having a bearing on the case, it should be conveyed promptly to the proper authorities.

He said the government had hoped that the matter would not become public knowledge because of the delicate situation in Indo-China.

Under ordinary circumstances, he said, the matter would not have been discussed in Parliament while it was under investigation.

The prime minister said it

Centennial Flashback . . . THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

MARCH 12

The Governor prorogued the House of Assembly by proclamation to March 19.

The Tiger engine company of the fire department at its meeting last evening decided to give a parade on May Day, and also a ball in the evening. The two other fire companies of Victoria and Hyack engine company, New Westminster, will be invited to join in the festivities.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Local veterans of the South African War of 1899 to 1902 will get their last opportunity at the end of May to attend a "party" thrown by the federal government at Ottawa in their honor. But if any want to attend, they must get there on their own steam.

Not many veterans of the Boer War will be able to afford the price of a berth to Ottawa.

Celebrations planned for those who can make the "trek" across Canada include a remembrance day ceremony for the signing of the Peace of Vereeniging on May 31, 1902, and a reunion dinner.

Victoria bird artist Fenwick Lansdowne and British bird painter Peter Scott have been trying to meet each other for the past few years, but usually just miss each other in their travels to London and New York.

They have the same mutual friends and are both well acquainted with each other's works, but they haven't yet managed a get-together.

Next month, however, the two outstanding bird painters are confident that their paths will meet. Mr. Lansdowne plans to meet Mr. Scott while on a business trip to England.

The odds are that they will meet—unless, of course, Mr. Scott has to travel to New York.

While in England, Lansdowne hopes to continue painting British birds. He will be away for about a month, returning here sometime in May.

Members of Victoria's squashing fraternity who traveled to Vancouver over the weekend to contest the Pacific Northwest Championships were met with little solicitude by their big city friends.

Dispersed in the first two rounds in all classes, when they entered were Andy Pitkeithly, George Evans, Gerry Davis, Dr. Bob Houston, Dr. Bill Bell, and yours truly, Douglas Hillside.

Which prompted the remark by a neighborly Vancouver matron:

"You fellas shoulda staid home in the garden."

Judging by appearances one should never have recognized Speaker of the Legislature Hugh Shantz Sunday afternoon.

Clad during the debates in flowing robes, white dress shirt, cravat and tri-cornered chapeau, he is perhaps the most dapper chap in the House.

Aboard the Mv. Victoria Sunday afternoon out of Tsawwassen relaxation from the tailored efficiency of the Buildings seemed to be the order of the day.

There was the Speaker, in flannel shirt and woodsman's jacket of red and black—unobtrusively smoking a pipe and reading a paper, well removed from the discussions which were taking place in other parts of the ship.

Said the Speaker: "I was up looking at horses in the Fraser Valley." ... Well, you can hardly expect robes for that.

History lesson: During last week's court martial hearing defence counsel Lloyd McKenzie unwittingly let drop that the battleship HMS Prince of Wales was sunk in its engagement with the German battleship Bismarck in the Second World War.

"Whose side were you on?" he was asked outside the courtroom.

(Prince of Wales was sunk, but by Japanese dive bombers.)

Thought for today: Drive carefully, the life you save may be mine.

value of goods and services produced rose seven per cent between the first and fourth quarters of 1961, the report said.

Such an increase indicates national output hit an annual rate of around $38,165,000,000 in the fourth quarter compared with $35,668,000,000 in the first quarter. This would put the gross national product for the year at $36,900,000,000—nearly three per cent above the $35,668,000,000 in 1960.

Today's report pointed to a reduction in the balance of payments deficit to $989,000,000 from $1,217,000,000 in 1960.

SPENDING INCREASES
The report also said:

1. Mr. Rasmussen expects to be a witness before the royal commission on banking and finance.

2. He is keeping an open mind on the question of how the bank rate of the central bank should be set.

3. The margin of interest rates in Canada over those in the U.S. narrowed during the year to less than one percentage point.

4. The mid-year decline in the dollar's exchange rate had increased Canadian prices of some major export and import commodities directly affected, but these had been little evidence of the increases spreading to retail prices generally.

5. Personal income increased about 5½ per cent between the first and fourth quarters of 1961 and personal expenditures rose by just under five per cent.

6. Corporation profits rose 30 per cent, on a seasonally adjusted basis, during the same period.

7. Consumer credit increased six per cent in the year, up $185,000,000 to $3,379,000,000. Chartered banks provided all but $12,000,000 of the increase.

8. The Bank of Canada's profits, paid to the federal treasury, increased to $107,693,000 from $90,175,000.

Opposition leader Lester B. Pearson said Diefenbaker should have made a detailed statement on the case when it came to light last week to prevent it being enlarged in the public eye by speculation.

A former B.C. Electric Company employee, he was one of two survivors of the Cassidy mine disaster of 1916 and a construction worker on many Vancouver Island projects.

He is survived by the widow, leaving at home, three sons, Nicholas and Thomas of Brentwood and George of Vancouver; five daughters; 24 grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; a brother and a sister, all of Victoria.

The service will be conducted at 3:30 p.m. in Hayward's Funeral Chapel followed by interment in Hatley Memorial Gardens.

SHOAL HARBOR HAVEN PROPOSED BY RVYC

Secondary mooring facilities may be established by the Royal Victoria Yacht Club at the north end of the Saanich Peninsula.

The club has asked the provincial department of lands for a foreshore lease on about 13 acres of water off the northern shore of Shoal Harbor near the Swartz Bay ferry terminal.

Club commodore R. Hamilton Smith said the move is in no way intended to replace existing anchorage at Cadboro Bay but merely to provide permanent facilities for more than 100 members who keep their boats in the area.

If the lease is obtained, the harbor will be dredged to permit sail and power boats of 50 feet in length to move about freely at low tide.

"We think this is a logical move so our club can continue to grow with the growth of the area," he said. The site is off undeveloped Crown land.

and little girls with long braids and white pinafores over their black dresses skipped.

Some boys played table tennis on an old table with a four-inch plank held upright by four bricks to serve as the net. The sound of their voices floated up to the fourth floor and only the words were different—"cheti vocim" (four seven). The children playing reminded me how far away were my own.

Heavy Furniture

For a time the furniture factories reached their quotas by weight and naturally enough the heavier the furniture the less they had to produce. The results of this order can easily be imagined but can hardly be moved! There was always hot water—a vast improvement over the hostel in the Crimea which had hot water two hours a week only.

On the train I had knitted a sweater for my elder daughter and we went to the nearest post-office to post it.

"Nyet" was the reply.

Only one central post office will accept parcels to be sent abroad and they wrap the items themselves very roughly in coarse paper. My mind reeled to imagine the post office at a time like Christmas and friends said that an hour's wait is inevitable, but this is somewhat compensated for by the life stories and conversations which arise during the waiting!

The postage on the parcel was one rouble ($1.10) while in Canada the postage would be 20 cents. Naturally there were forms to fill out which fortunately had instructions in French as well as Russian.

Cheque Troubles

After the post-office came those untouched travellers' cheques. We walked to a bank near the hotel and peered through a makeshift plywood partition. Back came the inevitable—"Nyet." Patience now. Who, after all, expects to just cash a cheque like that?

The State Bank of the U.S.S.R. was near Gorki Street so off we went again!

It was 12.30 when we passed the bored, armed soldier who nodded as each employee going in and out showed him his identifying pass. Travelers' cheques? The foreign section was open at 2 o'clock. Would we come back at that time?

We walked round one of the cathedrals by the Kremlin whose great murals are being meticulously restored to their original colors and then returned to the bank at 2 p.m. Travellers' cheques could only be cashed between 9 and 12 in the morning. Would we come back the next morning?

Just Like That!

By now we had almost abandoned hope and the building itself had taken on a rather sinister air for us. Probably some new delay would rise up to greet us in the morning. The next day off our way to the bank we were in the Hotel Metropole, an Intourist Hotel, and since my faith in the state bank was badly shaken and there was a bank in the hotel I presented the dog-eared cheques. The girl cashed them at once. What a triumph!

When we were in Moscow in 1958 the Bolshoi Ballet had been at the World's Fair in Brussels and we suffered a keen disappointment in not seeing them. However, this time we were lucky and saw the memorable Plisetskaya in Swan Lake. This I shall never forget.

The audience is greedily attentive, and the dismal and crowded lives which they lead melt away as each person becomes absorbed in the music and dancing on the stage. After the performance the audience is reluctant to admit it is all over and they clap in unison to keep the dancers bowing, and throw flowers and more flowers at their feet. It is very touching.

We saw "Giselle," "Chopiniana" and three modern ballets, but they were not so good, and the "Chopiniana" was almost routine. I could scarcely believe I was watching the same company. The tickets were three roubles, forty kopeks each. (One rouble equals $1.10.)

PHOENIX, ARIZ. (AP) —

As it is, only one in three is saved, says Dr. John R. Heller, the head of the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Centre in New York City.

He told the American cancer society's science writers' seminar during the weekend: "Please do not think it is contradictory to insist that two of

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — A

17-year-old high school boy, under psychiatric treatment for two years, has admitted that he killed his entire family — his parents and two brothers — because he felt they would be better off dead.

The rifle slayings occurred in the small central New Hampshire community of Newport.

The slightly-built youth was to be arraigned in juvenile court today. Mental observation was expected to be ordered.

The shooting victims were Francis L. McGrath, 37; his wife, Wilhelma, 40; and their sons, Peter, 13, and Charles, 5. Police quoted the blond, bespectacled youth as saying in explanation of the shootings Saturday night: "I was thinking about their suffering. They always have troubles."

'South Africa Must Gird Against Military Threat'

CAPE TOWN (Reuters) — Defence Minister Jacobus Fouché charged today that some Afro-Asian countries are openly advocating and secretly planning military action against South Africa.

Fouché told the Senate that, despite these threats, South Africa would not give way and would continue with all available means to ensure its own future.

Introducing a motion for approval of his policy, he said: "We will have to stand together in an attempt to create a military fist, of which the human and other elements must be efficient enough to withstand modern day onslaught upon us."

Fouché said trained Communists have already penetrated into practically every field in many African states and this penetration was being followed by economic, technical and military help.

He said that during the last year, military equipment had been provided to seven African states.

Some had received artillery and anti-aircraft guns, others tanks and armored cars, while a few had received jet fighters, long-range bombers and transport aircraft, Fouché said.

He said one of these countries had received torpedo-boats, minesweepers, submarines and other naval equipment.

India Takes Step To Merge Goa, Damao

NEW DELHI (Reuters) —

Prime Minister Nehru introduced in the lower House of Parliament today a bill formally seeking to merge the former Portuguese territories of Goa, Damao and Diu with India.

The bill provides for an amendment to the constitution by including the areas as integral parts of the republic from last Dec. 30, when they were taken over by Indian troops.

Another bill seeks to regulate the administration of the new Indian territories through an administrator appointed by the central government.

President Rajendra Prasad, opening the final session of the outgoing Parliament, said the Indian government has asked Communist China to end its "aggressive policies" toward India and restore a "peaceful climate" in relations between the two countries.

Prasad's speech, written by the Nehru government, said India gave this reply in response to a Chinese suggestion that the two countries negotiate a new agreement to replace the 1954 Sino-Indian pact on Chinese-ruled Tibet.

Crisis on Farms Denied by Mr. K

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Nikita Khrushchev now believes Russia can produce both guns and butter, following a meeting last week of the Communist party central committee and farm experts, observers said Sunday.

The Soviet premier is apparently relying on a combination of youthful enthusiasm, stricter party control and a more intensive use of existing resources to double or triple food production the next 20 years.

In a windup speech Friday on the five-day party session, Khrushchev said there was no crisis in agriculture and made it plain that increased agricultural production would have to be made without detriment to the present huge allocations for defence and heavy industry.

Western experts here believe the Soviet agricultural problem is such that big new investments would be needed to make it more productive.

Khrushchev now is saying farms must increase food supplies from existing equipment, though he appears to acknowledge that substantial improvement will take years.

Quantities of beer, sparkling beverages and ice increased 25 per cent during 1960 in the republic of Viet Nam.

Behind the Curtain

AS PARTY OFFICIALS MEET in conference in Moscow, and the West prepares to face their government in vital disarmament talks at Geneva this week, the Communist world presents more of an enigma than ever before. All we can be sure of is that Mr. Khrushchev is confronted with problems at home whose outcome may determine Soviet policy in a far-reaching way—and thus in a fairly direct way our own lives.

Overriding all considerations, of course, is the great ideological struggle between Peking and Moscow—the controversy between those who interpret Lenin as advocating force as the only way in which Communism may triumph, and those who, like Mr. Khrushchev, see industrial and commercial supremacy as the proper goal in a nuclear world.

This is not, apparently, a straight Chinese-versus-Russian argument, for the Peking interpretation has its adherents in the Kremlin too, and the recent mysterious developments centering around Josef Stalin's faithful disciple, Mr. Molotov, no doubt are part of this internal struggle.

At the moment Mr. Khrushchev appears to be weathering the doctrinal storm, but he is beset by other pressing problems.

Agriculture, a continuing weakness in the Soviet economy, may force major changes in Communist policy. The output of the collective farms has been far below the demanded quotas. Far too much capital and labor are tied up in producing inadequate supplies of food. In particular, Mr. Khrushchev's pet program of development of the "virgin lands" in Siberia has fallen far short of expectations.

Much of the shortfall may be laid to inefficient methods. But the chief cause appears to be the reluctance of the farming population to put a full effort into collective farming. The small plots on which farmers are permitted to grow food for their own use are said to produce in total more than half the country's agricultural output. Personal incentive obviously is the key to production and Mr. Khrushchev at last seems to be recognizing this.

Last October he referred obliquely to Poland's success in farming on non-collective lines. A few days ago he publicly acknowledged the need for individual incentive in meeting national requirements. A major switch in policy on this fundamental Communist concept is apparently in the making. Theory may at last be made to conform to facts.

A background problem facing Mr. Khrushchev, apart from the doctrinal controversy, is the gradual rise of Red China, an Asian giant which comprises a quarter of the earth's population. Peking is trying desperately to industrialize, even at the expense of many lives—as did Stalin. It threatens, too, to achieve the nuclear weapon within a few years at most. This fact could alter the whole world balance. Even as a Communist ally, Red China, industrialized and nuclear-armed, would present as great an ultimate threat to Russia as to the Western world. Mr. Khrushchev can never forget this.

The thought may well lie back of his current overtures to the West, as well as of his reluctance to come to grips with nuclear disarmament—a reluctance shared by the West. The conference on the nuclear test ban which opens at Geneva today may produce some new approach to the problem, but, as Mr. Lippmann recently explained on this page, a solution under present circumstances must involve a major concession, and a second-place position in nuclear strength by one side or the other.

This is not a likely outcome, even though failure of the conference could mark it as the last to be held for a long time. With Mr. Kennedy preparing to resume tests in the atmosphere and Mr. Khrushchev threatening to follow suit, the prospects are far from hopeful.

Perhaps offering more hope is Mr. Khrushchev's apparent urge to engage in top-level talks with the West. He has halted far short of his threats of action on Berlin, although the pot is stirred from time to time by transportation incidents, as exemplified in the recent "buzzing" of U.S. aircraft by Soviet planes in the Berlin air corridor.

What can come out of all this for the West? In the face of so many unknowns, continued strength seems to be the only logical policy, if coupled with an attitude that is alert to any overtures from Russia. These are times in which rigidity can be a detriment, but weakness could be fatal. And such world conditions, as Mr. Kennedy has said, may long outlast our generation.

Victoria and the 'Green Belt'

THE CITY COUNCIL'S INTEREST in "green belt" studies—and its unwillingness to become involved in costs—is understandable and, at the same time, points to the need of metropolitan control.

The "green belt" idea, provision of open spaces around densely populated areas, is widely approved by planners. The need for it in this community will become more apparent as the residential areas build up.

But, Victoria points out, good as the idea may be, the city already has a number of what could become "green belt" parks and is saddled with the costs of their maintenance and development.

Thetis Lake, Elk and Beaver Lakes, Durrance Lake and Mount Douglas are all excellent sites. They may not, in themselves, provide enough area to meet all the outside park needs of the future, but they're a good start. Under metropolitan jurisdiction they could be the nucleus of the "green belt." Oak Bay has suggested.

Oak Bay, however, seems to be less than enthusiastic about unification moves which could produce community benefits—"green belts" among them.

To Walk in Safety

MR. GEORGE LINDSAY, superintendent of motor vehicles, presents convincing figures to support his advice on preventing traffic fatalities. Of the city's 31 traffic deaths since 1957, 22 victims were pedestrians, many of them elderly persons struck while crossing the street.

Every car driver knows the problem of trying to see pedestrians in dark clothing on rainy nights. Such conditions demand extra care on the part of drivers but they should also be the concern of those who walk across or along thoroughfares. A flashlight, a piece of white clothing, even a newspaper carried in view of the motorist, may be the means of saving one's life.

Traffic safety is a two-sided duty—it involves both drivers and pedestrians. Often, as the statistics show, only one being careful is not enough.

Trail-Blazing

A FEW YEARS AGO—AND perhaps still—a motorist could drive to California over the Burma-shave route or the trail plotted by Smith Brothers' cough drops, better known as the beard run.

These were the predominant signs on the highway and, as long as his eye met them at regular intervals, the driver could be reasonably sure he was headed somewhere. The difficulty arose when he found that no matter which road he took he was on the Burma-shave of Smith Brothers' trail—and it could lead anywhere.

This recent phenomenon underscores the early problems of road maps and designations used when the whole idea of providing charts for motorists was in its infancy.

Rand McNally & Co., according to report, pioneered the road map in 1916 by accepting the suggestion of staff map draughtsman John G. Brink, and setting out geographical outlines marked with special routes to inform the motorists how to get from one place to another and even back. The idea caught on. More people put out more road maps and followed up their production by placing signs on various routes. Eventually, the highways became so over-marked that a motorist couldn't find directions for the confusion of signs.

Since that time uniformity in highway numbering has been adopted and signs, generally speaking, conform to a set design.

Here, at least, there has been interstate and inter-provincial cooperation with federal authorities.

It is interesting, nevertheless, to recall the early difficulties created for the motorist by a multiplicity of map-making and sign posting.

The system may not yet be perfect, but then the more expensive modern cars of recent production carried a built-in compass. This, surely, is one of the finer gestures by the automotive industry to honor the do-it-yourself road navigators in whom still lingers the spirit of Alexander Mackenzie or Lewis and Clark.

'Hold the Light'

AWAY WITH GUNS AND BOMBS

We'll Kill Each Other With Kindness

By B. A. TOBIN

WHAT with all this persistent discussion of nuclear bombs and radiation death and radius of blast and Strontium 90 in the babies' milk and genocidal and radioactive mutations and all the similar talk of these mid-twentieth-century years, I had begun to think that perhaps humanity was losing its humanity, so to speak; that modern man was developing a callousness, and even brutality, that was becoming a little alarming.

How wrong I've been. I just didn't understand the situation. Here I was worrying that we were losing all our compassion and decency, and all the time we were becoming more compassionate, and decent as all get out.

For it appears now that the weapons people were only fooling about shock-wave deaths, fire storms and lethal fall-out. They don't really intend to use those things at all. Quietly, conscientiously, compassionately and humanely they have been devising other weapons of quite a different type.

These are, as a Toronto news item describes them, "poison gases which are more humane than explosives."

Whereas an explosive—even an old-fashioned, conventional one—might blow you up in a fatal manner, "the newest gases aren't designed to kill."

In fact a gas attack—of the very latest kind—would be almost like giving you candy. All it would do, according to the news item, would be to cause "blindness, inability to walk, persistent vomiting and diarrhoea or a combination of these."

Who could possibly object to that?

I mean, after all, there's not much fun in just dying a conventional death from conventional weapons. That's old hat. If modern progress means blindness, inability to walk, persistent vomiting and diarrhoea or a combination of these, then by all means let's have them.

After a few years you'd be bound to get used to such slight afflictions, and the full humanness of the whole thing would readily become apparent.

But of course, this is not the full extent of the new, compassionate form of warfare. The scientists have still more humane weapons in the making.

One, the news item says, is "a fungus which causes the victim's limbs to drop off." It's derived from a simple grain fungus. Other modern weapons of war are being obtained from "the poison sac of a toad, the flower of a cactus and from mushrooms."

What more could any victim desire? I mean, how humane can you get?

Gone are the stone axe, the bronze sword, the iron cutlass, the whiff of grapeshot, the machine gun, the shrapnel shell, the blockbuster, even the hydrogen blast. Gone, all such crude methods of death and dismemberment. The war casualty of the future will merely have his limbs drop quietly off as the result of a fungus—and a simple grain fungus at that.

It is great to live in an age which can produce such humane inventions as these. It is great to live in an age that can produce nationwide news items telling of such humane advances—and telling of them in a plain, straight-forward, dead-pan manner which gives no hint of persistent vomiting, diarrhoea or a combination of these on the part of either writer or reader.

We can all feel a little better today because of this break-through in humanness; we can all stand a little taller, recognizing that at last we are on the right track. Now, knowing our worth in the universe, each one of us can hold his head a little higher—at least until the persistent vomiting bows it, or the fungus rots it off.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Price of Peace

Perhaps the "Angry Young Man" who is trying to sell stock in Peace Research is unaware of the somewhat doubtful value of this project. Who ever heard that Peace can be bought for money? Righteousness alone is the price of peace—terms which were laid down by God Himself centuries ago.

E. W. ABRAHAM,
1125 Faithful Street.

Talk to Mr. Gibson

I quite agree that concerning the problem of alcoholism, as Gordon Gibson, M.L.A., so rightly puts it, "it's education we need." But I do not agree that the problems of alcoholism "aren't that serious." When drinking gets to the compulsive disease bracket—of which only the true alcoholic has any experience—and the necessity to scrounge, beg or steal, lie, cheat or borrow to obtain the wherewithal to assuage the craving, becomes the most important thing in life, it can't be anything else but serious.

When a nation has 5,000,000 persons to whom drinking has become a serious problem . . . and 50 per cent of crime can be traced to the influence of drink and drugs, it is no longer a matter for trifling.

I agree one should not be narrow-minded and if people can drink normally without it becoming a problem, the custom should be socially acceptable and even moderately encouraged as a harmless aid to the convivial occasion. But when it is the cause of slaughter on the highways, juvenile delinquency, family unhappiness and suicides—then surely right-minded people and governments will decide to do something about it.

If Mr. Gordon Gibson, M.L.A., will do me the honor of having lunch with me, it will be a pleasure to give him a few statistics and some of the data that cause the general disquiet about our alcoholism figures and at the same time pay for the member's drinks, for I am sure from his remarks he does not himself have an alcoholic problem!

Aesop Up to Date

The response to my SOS, via Victoria Daily Times, for information on the amalgamation issue has been gratifying except for one thing. I have had telephone calls from inside and outside Victoria City limits, and the loan of back issues of various newspapers, but have yet to hear one word of argument, good, bad or indifferent, from a proponent of this move.

However, I did read something from Reeve Murphy, but even that contained more heat than light!

I can, perhaps, best indicate my present position on this issue by recalling one of Aesop's fables which used to be in our school readers when I was a youngster. It was about a fox which, through poor judgment, had fallen into a wide, but not too deep, well. The well was deep enough, however, that he couldn't climb out without help. Then along came another animal and looked in on him. I forget the species of this critter, but guess it must have been an ass, because that wiley fox convinced him that he, too, should plunge in as the water was fine.

For those of your readers who may have forgotten the sequel to this let me say that the fox climbed on the back of the ass and got out of the well leaving the said ass to ponder on his assinity.

Of course, the analogy is sustained only to the point where the fox invites the ass to join him in the well, because even an ass will learn from experience; but surely someone on the proponent side can come across with something that might convince me that the water in the amalgamation well really is fine.

In Justice to CPRI

Two weeks ago you were kind enough to publish a letter in which I quoted a paragraph from a letter to me from Mr. Donald Fleming in an answer to an enquiry with respect to press reports of a Federal Government commitment to match public subscriptions in support of the Canadian Peace Research Institute's appeal for funds. Mr. Fleming denied any knowledge of such a commitment.

I feel it is only fair to the Canadian Peace Research Institute, in view of the publicity given to my letter, to say I am satisfied after making enquiries, that no such statement emanated from Mr. Alcock. Furthermore the reservations I had as to the Institute's objectives and how they proposed to tackle the problem of peace—both economic and political—have been mainly cleared up in my mind upon reading "The Bridge of Reason" by Dr. Alcock.

A. C. F. SUTTON,
2453 Currie Road.

They Also Finance Roads

Don Robinson, Social Credit member for Lillooet, has stated: "Highways were built for high speed and it is ridiculous that some new cars are driven at only 20 miles an hour."

From this I infer that only speed artists are completely justified in driving on our much-publicized highways. Arbitrary and short-sighted to say the least. Does not the much vilified slowpoke driver contribute his share of taxation toward the construction and maintenance of these highways? Then by all that's holy why cannot he (with due consideration and courtesy) utilize them in a manner that befits his purpose?

Moreover, many are they, who with an aesthetic eye, take considerable pride in the natural beauties of this province and desire to view them rationally rather than in the context of violent speed.

As Premier Bennett might say, the roads belong to the people. With a great deal more selflessness this could be unquestionably true.

FRANK E. LOCKYER,
4154 Holland Rd.

How Does He Know?

Reference to letter headed "Angry Young Man" in a recent edition of your paper.

That young man seems to be one of the holier-than-thou variety. Let us ask him some questions?

How does he know that the lady who slammed the door hadn't left a half-washed baby in the bath and was in a hurry to return to it?

How does he know that the people on whom he called were prosperous? Maybe they were just fine, thrifty people.

How does he know that they caused and profited through the two big wars? How does he know that they don't care whether the world stops or goes on?

How does he know that these people have lived a full life and enjoyed it? I hope they have.

How does he know that they damn Russia?

How does he know that they read "Dear Abby" and the Funnies? That young man might profit by doing so himself.

How does he know that we do not read the letters to the editor? He must be a real live wizard.

However, these people may have heard more about the Peace Research Institute than he has.

Percentage for Sweeps

Was there a misleading caption in the Times recently?

Under the caption "C of C 80 Per Cent for Sweepstakes," it was stated that of 690 ballots mailed out by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to its members, 270 ballots were returned. Of these, 210 were in favor, 52 against, five with no decision, and three were spoiled.

If the number of ballots sent out represents the membership, then out of 690 only 210 were in favor, which is 30 per cent, not 80.

M. GOULD,

WASHINGTON:

The Reason For Geneva

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IT is so easy to write off as hopeless the coming disarmament conference that one may ask why the British, the Soviets, and we are taking the trouble to attend it. The reason is not that we are wishful thinkers and do not know the facts of life. The reason is that although there seems to be so little chance of a treaty, there is a basic agreement which dominates the whole situation.

It is that a nuclear war would be mutually suicidal and that, therefore, the nuclear powers must keep in contact, must keep talking while they wait for what the future may bring.

From this Anglo-American position the French government dissents. It will not even send an observer, much less its Foreign Minister, to Geneva.

Is this because the French government does not believe, as do the three others of the Big Four, that a nuclear war would be mutually suicidal? Not at all. The French government is so certain that the Soviet Union will not go to war that it sees no need, as do the English-speaking countries, to keep in contact in order to reduce the danger of miscalculation and accidents.

Lofty Disdain

This lofty disdain in Paris is based, not on the power of the French nuclear deterrent but, on the power of the United States nuclear deterrent. It is in fact hitch-hiking diplomacy.

Mr. Khrushchev's long message in reply to the President's address on resuming nuclear testing spells out with very nearly complete candor the Geneva dilemma. In Mr. Khrushchev's view the Soviet tests of last September were necessary and justifiable because we and the British had previously carried out more tests than had the Soviet Union.

Speaking quite candidly, Mr. Khrushchev would have said that we were far ahead of him, and that his testing was "defensive" because it was an effort to catch up with us. On this proposition he is able to argue that if we now start testing again, we shall increase our lead which the Soviets are trying to overtake, and this will be "aggressive" on our part.

Never Equal

The catch in the whole argument is that if we were to let the Soviet Union catch up, we should in fact be letting them have the capacity to take the lead. For, in the nuclear race, the momentum of scientific research and experimentation is such that there is never exact equality.

The best that is possible is a stalemate created by the fact that neither side could win by a first strike and that each side has the retaliatory power to deter the other.

This is in fact the situation today. But it is not the legalized situation. Neither side will now agree to a treaty which freezes the existing stalemate. We can, however, hope and believe, maintain the stalemate in fact, and this would mean that war was prevented. But there is no present prospect that we can translate this stalemate, in which we have superior power, into the international law of a treaty.

Practical Effect

The practical effect of the dilemma, in which neither side can afford to fight and neither can afford to make an agreement, is that the diplomatic discussions are bound to work their way around to the other issues of the cold war.

On the record, this is prohibited by Dr. Adenauer and Gen. de Gaulle. But off the record it is bound to happen. If it is not done at the summit, it will be done by Ambassadors, or sons-in-law, or brothers, or other go-betweens. The very fact that the disarmament negotiations—as such—are frozen will lead to an unfreezing elsewhere.

It is an idle dream for Paris and Bonn to suppose that the nuclear race will be carried on during a diplomatic blackout on the German question and the European question. That is why we are going to Geneva, although the prospects of agreement are so poor. We are going to prevent the terrible nuclear race from being carried out during a diplomatic blackout.

The Child Who Died of Fright

All my life, I have been distressed over the fact that some people die of fright, as when they are going to be operated on, and if we doctors only had been well taught that such a thing happens, each year surgeons could save many lives.

I got interested in this when I was six and my father caught a rat in the barn. As the rat sat in the trap, a little fox terrier came and barked at it, and the rat rolled over dead. I never forgot that.

Later, when I was 14 and started to give anesthetics for my father, a Spanish fellow told me he was going to die on the table. As soon as I gave him the first whiff of ether—surely not enough to do him any harm—he stopped breathing, and my father and I had a hard time bringing him back to life.

In the years that followed, I had a few more such experiences which decided me that never again did I want to give an anesthetic to anyone who said he was going to die. Then I had a few experiences which showed clearly that the anesthetic had nothing to do with the death. The person must have died purely of fright because he quit living while perhaps the skin of his abdomen was just being prepared for an operation.

For some time, I have been particularly concerned with our very cruel practice of sending a frightened little child all alone into a hospital, and next day sending him up to the operating room all alone. It would be so much kinder to let the mother go to the hospital with the child and to sleep the first night in the room with him. Next morning, the child in his room could be given some strong sedative while his mother is holding his hand. Then he would go up to the operating room sound asleep and free from the danger to life that goes with great fear.

I know this is possible because once when I had to be operated on, while I was in my room, I was given so big a dose of some sedative that I have only the faintest memory of going to the operating floor and no memory at all of being given an anesthetic.

I have been moved to write this column because of the sad letter here on my desk—a letter from a man who tells me of his little boy who had a terrible fear of a hospital and an operating room. The parents told the surgeon of this great fear and begged him to let the mother stay during the night and then next morning to go up with the child to the operating room.

But both the doctors and the hospital people were adamant; they seemed to have not the slightest concern over the child's great fear or the parents' anxiety. They brushed the parents aside and took the child up to the operating room. As might have been expected, the child died before the operation was started.

Why cannot some day we physicians and hospital people and head nurses develop enough human compassion so that, especially when a child is very fearful by nature, his mother can have a cot in his room? And why can't the child be given a big dose of nembutal or something while in his room? All of this could be done so easily, and I know from my half-century of experience that it would save many lives.

Curiously, some women have got their information mixed up and want to know if cortisone will take unwanted hair off their face. I doubt it; actually, there is much probability that the prolonged taking of cortisone or a cortisone-like drug will produce a rounded face with hair on it.

There is a certain Cushing-type of tumor of the supra-renal glands which can cause a nice-looking young woman to become coarse and fat with a round, hairy face and long, purple streaks on her abdomen. After removal of the tumor, the woman may quickly go back to her previous normal appearance. This is one of the great miracles that a surgeon can produce.

I recently read an article by some research workers who described the case of a lovely girl with much hair on her face and body. The doctors made extensive studies of the adrenal and ovarian secretions that come out in the urine. As has long been suspected, much evidence was found to show that the young woman's glands of internal secretion were not functioning normally; but what was sad was that the doctors did not have any clear idea what to do to make the glands work right again, or what to give the girl to cause her excessive hair to leave her upper lip, her chin, her forearms and her thighs.

INCOME TAX TIPS

Sixth of the Series)
By GORDON HOLMES, CA

It pays to be sick!—Man, only the Tax Collector could think up a deal like that. It is the truth, the Crown will allow all medical expenses in excess of 3 per cent of your net income.

To be allowable, medical expenses must have been on behalf of yourself, wife or dependents.

Medical expenses in 1961 need not have been paid during the calendar year 1961 but must have been paid during the course of any 12-month period which ended in 1961.

Israeli Must Name Hangman

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—Israel, whose only condemned prisoner is convicted mass murderer Adolf Eichmann, plans to appoint a public hangman, it was announced today in the official gazette.

Executions previously were carried out by prison guards. Eichmann's appeal against his conviction and sentence for his part in the wartime Nazi murder of millions of Jews is due to be heard March 22.

Another amendment to the regulations which will affect Eichmann gives prison guards authority to seize "any letter, manuscript or notes written by a prisoner before or after conviction."

This may decide the fate of a 500-page manuscript which Eichmann is said to have written as his "last message."

Freedomite Ploy in Africa

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (CP-Reuters)—A dozen Negro women today launched a form of protest familiar to British Columbia—nudity.

The women marched into the headquarters of a campaign started by supporters of Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky and promptly removed their clothes.

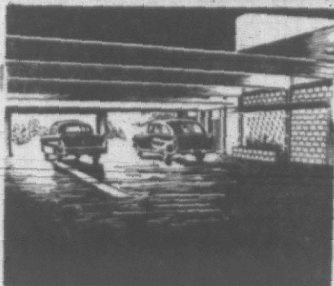

The campaign is aimed at persuading all races in the Central African Federation to regard themselves as Rhodesians in line with Welensky's efforts to keep together the white-dominated federation.

Negro nationalists wanted the Federation of the Rhodesias and Nyasaland split up. While removing their clothes the women chanted slogans of the African-United Nations Independent Party.

The office manager called police. The women face charges of trespassing. Women members of the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect in British Columbia for years used nudity as a form of protest against forced adherence to Canadian laws.

HOME GARDEN

Don't Waste Time Feeding Them

Strawberries are a popular fruit in the home garden and most gardeners are eager to adopt any practice which will ensure more and larger berries.

It would seem logical, after all we have read about the need for feeding fruit producing plants, that fertilizers should have a marked effect on production, size and flavor of strawberries.

This thought is common to a large number of gardeners.

Judging from questions on when, and with what, the strawberry bed should be treated.

To these questions the answer is always "no fertilizer," for it has been shown for this area that the plants give no significant response and therefore feeding is time and money wasted.

Greater improvement in the crop can be obtained by preparing for the new strawberry bed one or two seasons in advance.

Since strawberries have to be renewed every three to five years under our methods of culture, it is not beyond reason to start now on the site for a new bed to be made two or three years hence.

Strawberries are known to need a fertile soil and one containing plenty of humus in any form, well rotted manure or thoroughly decomposed compost, or humus built up by frequently turning under green manure crops.

The area for the new bed need not be idle during the build-up period. Crops of vegetables or flowers requiring heavy feeding can be grown there, and fertilizer applied according to their needs.

When the time comes for setting out the new strawberry plants the soil will be in first-class condition to receive them and should result in reasonably high yields of quality fruits for the next three to five years.

BOOST MARGIN

Bvelection Cheers U.K. Laborites

By DAVID OANCIA

Canadian Press Staff Writer

A resounding electoral victory has heartened Britain's Socialists.

Dick Taverne, 33-year-old London lawyer, last week boosted the Labor party's majority in the Cathedral centre of Lincoln to 7,652 votes—a jump of 75 per cent over the 1959 general election figure.

Political analysts were quick in advancing the broad implications for the future shape of British politics from this performance.

"Labor checks drift to the Liberals," says The London Evening Standard.

Then its political correspondent concludes that if the party could do as well in the next general election it could form a government with a majority of at least 50 seats.

"Labor Triumphs at Lincoln—Warning to the Tories," says The London Evening News.

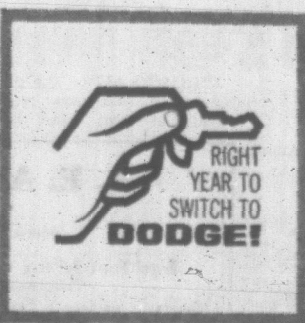

This paper adds that the trouncing the ruling Conservatives received was far more severe than expected.

Gorge Side Pays Price For Win Over Alberni

Chummy Crabbe's knack for scoring the big goal has been a major factor in helping Gorge Hotel 4-step sprightly along the soccer trail.

Gorge, with Crabbe leading the way, showed their familiar bounce in stepping into the 16th of the Province Cup competition. They did that Saturday with a 5-1 conquest of Port Alberni 54's at Royal Athletic Park.

The question now arises: How far can Gorge limp without Crabbe.

Gorge won the game but lost Crabbe for an indefinite period when the bustling forward suffered severe ankle injury with less than five minutes left in the game. Before misfortune struck, Crabbe was one of the bright lights in a dull game that at times fell to the level of corner-kick shinny.

Chummy scored Gorge's first two goals, both on headers. Gary Bohner, on a picture play, counted Alberni's only goal before the half.

Three goals in the final six minutes of play, by Ian Holroyd, Don Hendry and Cliff Newman, made it look easy for Gorge against an Up-Island squad that was obviously out of condition.

THREE SHUTOUTS

Victoria and District League teams got back into the swing of regular activity Sunday, but it was a poor day for up-Island sides. Duncan Rangers, Nanaimo and Ladysmith all dropped shutout decisions.

Evcoes moved past Duncan and into second place by edging the Rangers 1-0 on a goal by veteran Maurice Bunyan; Canadian Scottish blanked Nanaimo 2-0 on Larry DeCosta's goalkeeping, and first-place Hourigan's Kickers routed Ladysmith 5-0.

In other games Sunday, Brodies beat Heaneys 3-1 and Victoria West trounced winless Saanich Thistles 12-2.

GAME FOR UNITED

It was another idle weekend for United, Victoria's Pacific Coast League team, but the squad will taste action Thursday when it meets the District League all-stars in an exhibition game at Royal Athletic Park.

The game, starting at 7.30, will be played under the lights.

Gill's Record Effort Highlights Swim Meet

Greg Gill of the YMCA club cracked a Canadian record Saturday night as the first 18 events of the annual Victoria swimming championships were staged at the Crystal Garden.

Competing in the 13-14 age group, Gill splashed through the 50-yards breaststroke in 34.9 seconds to shatter the former mark of 37.1 seconds, set by Grant Macfarlane, another Victoria Y ace.

Double winners were Donna Bishop and Grant Treloar of Victoria Amateur Swimming Club and YMCA stars Mary Helen Johanson and Susan Murphy.

With the final 22 events scheduled for next Saturday, VASC and YMCA each have nine individual victories but the Y leads the VASC in team standings, 94 points to 64.

Saturday's results:

BOYS 13-14
50 yards freestyle: 1-Mary Helen Johanson (VASC), 2-Anne Kidd (VASC), 3-Diane Horday (VASC), Time: 38.2 seconds.

Talent Comes Through In 'Operation Tokyo'

Vancouver's Mary Stewart, Canada's brightest aquatic star, set three new records Saturday as the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association staged the second part of "Operation Tokyo"—a program to prepare swimmers of the 1964 Olympic Games in Japan.

More than 2,000 swimmers, including 129 Victorians, in age groups of 10-and-under to senior, competed in the Dominion-wide telegraphic meet.

After tabulation of results, CISA officials at Montreal announced that 17 Canadian records had been bettered, including three by Miss Stewart and four by Prince Rupert's Vito Dunford, who swam in the 10-and-under division.

Swimming at Royal Roads pool, nine Victoria splashers finished in the top 10 of their respective divisions. Jim Pearce of the YMCA paced city athletes, finishing second in the 100-yards butterfly and third in the 100-yards freestyle for boys 15 and 16.

Susan Murphy of the Y team, competing in the 11-12 age group, placed fifth in the 50-yards breaststroke and sixth in 100-yards freestyle.

Other Victorians placing in the top 10:

Ray Vasek (Y), ninth in 50-yard freestyle for boys 10 and under.

Grant Treloar (VASC), 10th in 100-yard freestyle for boys 13-14.
Kerry Macdarius (Y), fifth in 50-yard breaststroke for girls 10 and under.
Reather Lawson (Y), seventh in 50-yard breaststroke for girls 10 and under.
Karen McKenzie (Y), 10th in 50-yard breaststroke for girls 13-14.
Anne Kidd (VASC), ninth in 100-yard breaststroke for girls 13-14.
Brian Pearce (Y), fifth in 100-yard butterfly for boys 13-14.

Tickets are on sale at Alberta News, 644 Yates.

Grid Aces Join Rugby Reps For Tussle With Tourists

Canadian football veterans Gordie Hemmingway and Ian Stewart have earned places on the Victoria representative rugby side that will meet the vaunted New Zealand Combined Universities club at Macdonald Park next Saturday.

Victoria Rugby Union selectors huddled after the Possibles had edged the Probables 11-9 in a trial match Sunday, and named Hemmingway to an inside three-quarter spot, and Stewart to a forward position in the Crimson Tide.

Returning to the Tide after missing one match will be forward John Wenman and wing three-quarter George Wilson. Among the holdovers, Charlie Bishop moves from a wing position to break forward.

Also due to start against the New Zealanders are full-back Rob Wilson, winger Murray, McAlpine, inside Jack Patrick, stand-off Don Burgess, scrum-half Pat MacLachlan and forwards Sonny Vickery, Ross Irving, Lin Paterson, Bob Coyts and Maurice Preece. Reserves are Tilman Briggs, Ray Ramsay, Bob Hutchison, Don Karapecki and Brian Usher.

CITY JUNIOR FINAL

In a preliminary to the New Zealand-Victoria tussle, Mount Newton Junior High School and Sea Cadets will play off for the city junior championship.

Both clubs won semifinal matches Sunday. Sea Cadets clipping PPCLI 3-0 on a try by Gudmund Gudmundsen, and Mount Newton blanking Oak Bay Wanderers on tries by Shelly Mathison and Irvin Beebe.

On Saturday, James Bay

Aged naturally in the traditional manner... to assure Old Style flavour!

Old Style CARE

brewing Old Style is still a labour of love!

The brewing of Old Style calls for the blending not only of fine ingredients but of many talents as well. The skills of the hop grower, the maltster, the kettleman, the brewmaster... craftsmen who still believe that work is worth a man's best efforts. And the care proudly given by men like these is reflected in the mellow taste... the refreshing flavour... and the golden colour that makes Old Style such a pleasure to drink.

ATHLETICS SQUARE HOOP FINAL

VANCOUVER (CP)—Alberni Athletics Saturday night scored a 74-70 victory over New Westminster to tie their best-of-seven final series for the B.C. senior A men's basketball title 1-1.

Don Krogo scored 22 before fouling out in the final minutes to lead Alberni in the fast-moving, close-fought contest. Denny Grisdale added 20 for the winners.

Next three games in the best-of-seven series will be played at Alberni next weekend.

Stewards Ground Careless William

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jockey William Hartack, three times national riding champion, was suspended Saturday for 10 days by Gulfstream Park stewards for careless riding in Friday's eighth race. The suspension from March 13-22 will prevent Hartack from riding in next Saturday's $100,000 Gulfstream Park handicap.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

OCHO RIOS, Jamaica—"I'm all wet all the time," the new Swiss-born sex symbol, Ursula Address, said. "That's my life."

Miss Address, the wife of movie and TV star John Derek, looks so good when wet—especially in a bikini—that she's going to have to stay wet for years and years. Miss Address will probably never know a dry moment until she grows old and less blonde, beautiful and shapely than she is now.

I flew down here—with the B.W., of course—to have a look at this girl who was married in Las Vegas, and has been living in Hollywood for five years—but had to come to Jamaica and get wet before she attracted great attention.

And, just my luck—she was dry when I got to her. "Honeychile Rider," they call her in the movie, "Dr. No," based on an Ian Fleming thriller which Cubby Broccoli and Harry Saltzman have been shooting down here in the Caribbean.

CRAB BITE
"You got a bad scar on your knee," I couldn't help mentioning.

She sat with her pretty, deeply-tanned legs up in front of her and a thin dressing gown around her.

"Yes, we had some reever scenes, I slipped on a rock, I got bitten by a crab," she said. "Where?" I asked, being the complete reporter.

Miss Address laughed. The derriere was the area affected. "He peenched me—just a baby crab. Not serious."

They've even had the girl wading swamps to get wet and she came out not smelling like a rose. And in the midst of this John Derek arrived from California to tell her their new home in Royal Oaks had been inundated by a mud slide and that he was twice buried in mud and only saved by their huge Afghan hound Dmitri.

"There've been stories that you and Derek are breaking up," I said.

"No, no," she grimaced. "So so. It started when I began to work again."

Not "dedicated," not driven, not overly ambitious, Miss Address didn't do much about learning English when she was under contract to Paramount. She was content to go with Derek when he went to an acting assignment.

GOES ALONE
"John doesn't like to go to parties so I go many times alone."

"Nobody noticed when I wasn't working. When I started to work again, they decided to start a rumor about us."

Ecstatic though gentlemen may get about her figure, she says she won't try to be a Bardot or Monroe.

"It's not wurs while"—she still has that accent—"you can't be married and work all the time. I would be all over the world and John would be home."

Derek is getting a leave from the CBS-TV show, "Frontier Circus," to finish a picture, "May the Sea Take This Island," in Yugoslavia. He's directing the picture—which he also wrote.

And Ursula's appearing in it—"not completely nude," though that condition is suggested in a couple of scenes.

"What do you play?" I asked her.

"A feeshing girl... I'm still all wet all the time," she smiled.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A recent survey showed that personal income is at an all-time high. Unfortunately, so is personal out-go.

Allen and Rossi have this in their act: "Col. Glenn, would you consent to make another orbit, with two additional astronauts?" "Only if I can get a seat near the window."

That's all, brother.

Foreign Control Increases

OTTAWA (CP)—Foreign investors owned 51 per cent of Canada's manufacturing industry in 1959 and controlled 57 per cent of it.

This was shown today in a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report which traced the "slow but persistent growth" of foreign capital to positions of dominance in big sectors of Canadian industry.

Five years earlier, foreign investors owned 47 per cent of Canadian manufacturing and controlled 51 per cent of it.

United States ownership of manufacturing increased to 41 per cent from 37 in those five years 1954 to 1959, and U.S. control rose to 44 per cent from 42.

In the petroleum and natural gas industry, foreign ownership advanced to 63 per cent from 60, and foreign control to 75 per cent from 69, during the five-year period.

U.S. investors owned 57 per cent of the industry and controlled 69 per cent.

REVERSE PICTURE

In mining and smelting, foreign capital increased its ownership share to 59 per cent from 53 and its control to 61 per cent from 51. Here again, U.S. capital predominated.

The picture was reversed in the case of Canada's railways, where foreign ownership declined to 27 per cent from 35. Foreign control in this field was only two per cent throughout the period.

In the case of other utilities, though foreign ownership edged upwards to 15 per cent from 14, foreign control shrank to five per cent from eight.

Foreign ownership of Canadian manufacturing had "inched up from 38 per cent in 1926" and foreign ownership of mining and smelting "has also reflected an almost uninterrupted growth from 37 per cent in 1926."

U.S., Britain Plan Joint Satellite

WASHINGTON (CP)—Plans to launch the first international satellite this spring, a joint project by the United Kingdom and the United States, have been announced.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the satellite, now designated SS1, will be given a name "upon achievement of orbit."

Its purpose will be to increase knowledge of:

1. The ionosphere—the electrically charged atmospheric blanket around the earth, at altitudes of 50 to 200 miles—and how it is affected by solar radiations.
  2. Primary Cosmic Radiation.
- The Imperial College in London has developed a device by which the satellite will measure accurately the spectrum of primary cosmic ray energy and the changes that result from acetic field.

Weatherman To Discuss Satellites

Place of artificial satellites in the study of meteorology will be discussed at the regular meeting of Victoria Centre, Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Victoria College.

Speaker will be weatherman William Mackie, the officer in charge of the Weather Office on Gonzales Hill. A Vancouver man originally, Mr. Mackie graduated from UBC and has been with the Canadian meteorological service for 20 years. He has been in charge here since 1951.

Dr. J. L. Climenhaga, president, said the meeting will be held in Room 301 of the Young Building, directly above the usual meeting place in the college auditorium.

It will be open to the public without charge.

Tallest amusement tower in the United Kingdom, the Blackpool Tower reaching 518 feet, was opened in 1894.

HOVERCRAFT PLACED ON REGULAR SERVICE

LONDON (Reuters)—An independent British airline Sunday announced plans for the first scheduled service employing "hovercraft," which travel on a cushion of air.

British United Airways said the experimental service would operate between Hoylake, in northwest England, and Rhyl, 15 miles across the mouth of the River Dee in North Wales.

BUA will operate frequent daily services with a 24-seat Vickers-Armstrong machine called a "Cushioncraft."

The 60-mph Cushioncraft will take 20 minutes for the journey, compared with two hours by train or bus.

Job Picture Good Despite Snowfall

Unemployment climbed only slightly despite heavy snow last week, putting South Vancouver Island at its best seasonal level in five years.

National Employment Service statistics show 100 men and 29 women more than the previous week were seeking work here.

Men put out of work by the snow were able to get back on the job early in the week due to rapid clearing.

Snow slowed normal hiring, but there were 145 placements

and prospects of more being confirmed.

There were 1,900 men seeking jobs, a drop of 1,100 over August, 1960, which was one of the worst periods in recent years.

Women looking for work totalled 1,600.

WAITRESSES NEEDED

This slack is expected to be taken up during the spring and summer with heavy demand for waitresses and room maids to look after an expected record tourist influx.

An NES survey of motel-hotel accommodation indicates the need will be great in view of local centennial celebrations and Century 21 world fair.

Federal provincial vocational schools in Victoria have organized two classes starting April 2 to train suitable women in these occupations and ensure a standard of proficiency, for which they will receive certification.

Applications will be taken by NES, 1039 Johnson, starting today.

Charmers Required

Two attractive, personable and intelligent young women—one from Victoria and the other from up Island will be needed to look after the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau section of the tourist booth at Seattle during the Century 21 World Fair starting April 21, bureau commissioner William Hawkins has announced.

The booth, at the northeast terminal of the Century 21 monorail, will be shared with the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and the Vancouver Publicity Bureau.

Successful candidates for the jobs will be supplied with uniforms and accommodation will be arranged for the six months of the fair. A short training course will be given to acquaint all booth attendants with the attractions of the areas being promoted.

Applications will be received at the Publicity Bureau office, 786 Government.

RAILWAY NET ADAPTABLE TO COLOR TV

3,000-Mile Microwave Planned

MONTREAL (CP)—Construction of a 3,000-mile microwave network between Montreal and Vancouver will start this summer at a cost of $36,000,000, it was announced today.

The joint announcement by Donald Gordon, CNR president, and N. R. Crump, CFR president, said the network will be owned and operated jointly by the two railways. It said the system should be in operation by the end of 1963.

The announcement said the system is being built to provide high quality, high capacity circuits for Canadian business and to meet national defence requirements. Spur lines from the main system will feed major centres across Canada.

The new line will be tied to existing CN-CP microwave and radio circuits in the Atlantic provinces, central Canada, the Yukon, the Northwest Territories and Vancouver Island, as well as landline circuits operated by the two companies elsewhere in Canada.

Primary use of the network, the announcement said, will be for commercial and business communications. Although not intended initially for television transmission, the network will be built to a standard capable of carrying black and white or color-television signals.

HOVERCRAFT PLACED ON REGULAR SERVICE

LONDON (Reuters)—An independent British airline Sunday announced plans for the first scheduled service employing "hovercraft," which travel on a cushion of air.

British United Airways said the experimental service would operate between Hoylake, in northwest England, and Rhyl, 15 miles across the mouth of the River Dee in North Wales.

BUA will operate frequent daily services with a 24-seat Vickers-Armstrong machine called a "Cushioncraft."

The 60-mph Cushioncraft will take 20 minutes for the journey, compared with two hours by train or bus.

Job Picture Good Despite Snowfall

Unemployment climbed only slightly despite heavy snow last week, putting South Vancouver Island at its best seasonal level in five years.

National Employment Service statistics show 100 men and 29 women more than the previous week were seeking work here.

Men put out of work by the snow were able to get back on the job early in the week due to rapid clearing.

Snow slowed normal hiring, but there were 145 placements

and prospects of more being confirmed.

There were 1,900 men seeking jobs, a drop of 1,100 over August, 1960, which was one of the worst periods in recent years.

Women looking for work totalled 1,600.

WAITRESSES NEEDED

This slack is expected to be taken up during the spring and summer with heavy demand for waitresses and room maids to look after an expected record tourist influx.

An NES survey of motel-hotel accommodation indicates the need will be great in view of local centennial celebrations and Century 21 world fair.

Federal provincial vocational schools in Victoria have organized two classes starting April 2 to train suitable women in these occupations and ensure a standard of proficiency, for which they will receive certification.

Applications will be taken by NES, 1039 Johnson, starting today.

Charmers Required

Two attractive, personable and intelligent young women—one from Victoria and the other from up Island will be needed to look after the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau section of the tourist booth at Seattle during the Century 21 World Fair starting April 21, bureau commissioner William Hawkins has announced.

The booth, at the northeast terminal of the Century 21 monorail, will be shared with the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and the Vancouver Publicity Bureau.

Successful candidates for the jobs will be supplied with uniforms and accommodation will be arranged for the six months of the fair. A short training course will be given to acquaint all booth attendants with the attractions of the areas being promoted.

Applications will be received at the Publicity Bureau office, 786 Government.

AT GANDER

4 Cubans Quit Plane, Ask Asylum

GANDER, Nfld. (CP)—Four members of the crew of a Cubana Airlines plane who defected at the Newfoundland International Airport here last Wednesday were still awaiting word Sunday night on their application for permission to enter the United States.

The Cubans sought political asylum when their plane touched down at the airport to refuel on its flight from Prague, Czechoslovakia, to Havana.

They brought to 14 the number of Cubans who have defected from Cubana flights here since last fall.

The co-captain of the flight who defected, Ramon Leonard, is the father of Jorge Nicolas Leonard who sought asylum here Feb. 14.

The other members were co-pilots Jose Tomas and Jesus Millaras and Jesus' brother, purser Jose Millaras.

Jorge Leonard had been granted permission to enter the United States.

The flight continued to Cuba with a skeleton crew.

Registration Plan Urged For Farmers

All bona fide farmers in B.C. should register voluntarily with the department of agriculture as part of a tax-lowering plan, Agriculture Minister Frank Richter has been told.

Annual brief of the Farmer's Union of British Columbia said the registration would "solve the whole problem of lower taxes on farm land."

HEAVY BURDEN

"The premier on several occasions has stated that the great problem was to differentiate between the bona fide farmer and the land speculator or hobby farmer," union president George Driediger said.

Registration would eliminate the speculator and part-time farmer from government concessions to genuine farmers who are supporting a heavy tax burden, the brief said.

Under any general reduction of taxes or assessment on farm lands, as has been suggested, more non-farmers would benefit than farmers because there are "thousands of city-folk moving into the country to escape high city taxes."

EXPECT BENEFITS

"These folk buy small farms, refuse to develop them for farm use, but expect all the benefits a farmer receives," Mr. Driediger said.

He added that the union would never consent to capital gains tax on sale of farmland, whether for "subdivision" or otherwise.

The brief stressed the need for crop insurance in B.C. and an extreme shortage of agriculturalists.

SKETCH of Prince George by Herbert Siebner which appeared in Times, Feb. 24, portrays what artist called

"the white layouts of buildings, and the plains of snow covered streets and city squares."

THERE'S NO JOY IN 'MUDSVILLE'

The city of Prince George, suffering aches in its civic pride and pains in its pocketbook, has let The Times know in no uncertain terms that it does not subscribe to art "a la Herbert Siebner."

Mr. Siebner, probably Victoria's best-known current artist, was commissioned by The Times to do a series of sketches of points of interest in B.C., and one of them was the "plane's eye view," of Prince George, as seen from an altitude of 2,000 feet.

Far from being pleased with the attention given it, the city and its boosters are filled with wrath.

Wrote Alex Clark, president of the Prince George Chamber of Commerce:

"While the reproduction of Mr. Siebner's work may be accepted modern art, it is my opinion that your readers can only conclude that we are living in Mudsville, B.C."

"As you can see from a study of the enclosed aerial picture of a portion of Prince George, we have a modern city. We are proud of it, and we would ask you to be good enough to reproduce the picture in the Victoria Times in order to counteract the unfavorable publicity which Mr. Siebner's work has brought us."

D. C. Thacker, managing editor of the town's daily paper, wrote that a friend told him "the artist's impression does appear likely to create a public image of Prince George as some sort of prairie ghost town."

"We are spending a lot of money annually advertising for tourists, business, industry, and more people," he wrote. "The sort of publicity we got from The Times, courtesy Siebner, will not help our cause."

"Having flown over Prince George many times, I think the artist was either drunk or air sick if he saw the city as he painted it."

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, MARCH 12, 1962—PAGE 15

Skipper Considers Appeal After Reprimand Issued

Cmdr. R. H. Leir, captain of HMCS Skeena, was issued a reprimand by a court martial board Saturday, after being found guilty of contravening standing orders.

A further charge of negligently performing a military duty was set aside.

Both charges arose out of the accidental shelling Jan. 29 of Clallam Bay, Wash., on the shore of Juan de Fuca Strait.

Cmdr. Leir was specifically found guilty of allowing the forward gun mounts to be fired when the ship was in a relative position to land which would allow the shells or shell fragments to fall within two miles of shore—which is prohibited in standing orders.

During cross-examination Friday, Cmdr. Leir stated he realized he was firing so shells might fall within two miles of land.

"To get on with the job, I took a justifiable risk," he said. The court could have imposed penalties ranging from dismissal from the service down to a reprimand.

The sentence may be appealed during a 14-day period following receipt of the written transcript, and Cmdr. Leir said he would "consider" an appeal during this period.

AUTOMATIC REVIEW

The findings of the court will be reviewed automatically by the naval staff at headquarters before the reprimand is noted on Cmdr. Leir's service record.

In speaking prior to the sentencing, defence counsel Lloyd McKenzie detailed the unblemished, 22-year service career of Cmdr. Leir, and said that guilt in this case was sufficient punishment. He suggested the court impose a $1 fine to indicate there was guilt but no moral wrongdoing.

LEADS TASK FORCE

Cmdr. Leir, who is commander of the 22nd Canadian destroyer division as well as captain of Skeena, will lead a three-ship task force on a week-long anti-submarine exercise Tuesday.

A Department of Transport official pointed out today that the vessel Oshawa mentioned in an earlier report, on the court martial as being a D.O.T. ship is a Canadian Navy Auxiliary vessel.

The Oshawa is a civilian manned ex-minesweeper being used for oceanographic work in connection with the Pacific Naval Laboratory at Esquimalt.

'Fairex' Rebuffed By Socreds

A nine-man delegation representing B.C. Power Corp. shareholders from all parts of the province was rebuffed today when it sought to present a brief to a Social Credit caucus, protesting the method of the B.C. government's takeover of the B.C. Electric Co. Ltd. last August.

The delegation, led by James Clarke of Vancouver, chairman of the Fair Expropriation Practices Committee, was "dis-mayed at the refusal of the people's representatives to meet with the people," according to spokesman H. L. Matthews, Victoria lawyer.

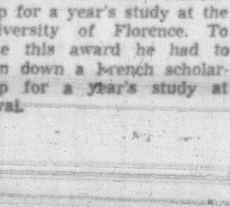

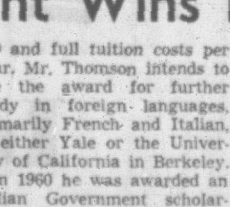

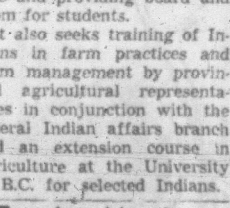

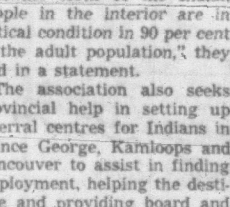

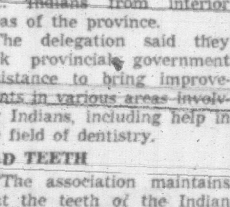

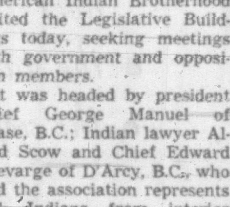

The group plans to get around the Social Credit caucus refusal by "button-holing" individual Social Credit MLAs at the Legislative Building today and Tuesday.

Represented in the delegation are B.C. Power shareholders' committees in Vancouver, Victoria, Powell River, Nanaimo, Port Alberni, Nelson, Vernon, Kelowna and Ketchikan.

A city motorist was jailed for 25 days following his conviction in city police court today of impaired driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Loring Carlsen, 27, Erie, was sentenced to 20 days on the impaired charge, which he admitted, and five days for failing to remain, which he denied.

City police said he collided with two cars while driving south on Quadra, near Prince, on Friday night. He was found standing on the sidewalk some two blocks from Magistrate William Oster, the scene of the first accident, imposed the jail terms when he heard Carlsen was convicted of driving while intoxicated 10 years ago.

'The Best Cabaret In Town'

One of Victoria's Canadian Legion branches runs "the best cabaret in town," City Solicitor T. P. O'Grady, told a legislative committee this morning.

He was appearing before the legislature's private bills committee seeking amendments to Victoria's acts of incorporation.

The city wants the power to tax private clubs serving liquor.

It seeks power to impose a maximum licensing fee of $100 every six months.

Mr. O'Grady admitted the move was spurred by complaints from public liquor servers that the private clubs were cutting into their business.

ALL WELCOME

He said some clubs had practically "everyone in town" as members.

"The Legion is doing a thriving trade," he said.

One Legion branch runs "what amounts to a beer parlor," said Mr. O'Grady.

"One has as many as 2,400 members—it's the best cabaret in town."

He did not name the Legion branch.

However, Ernest McIntyre, who appeared before the committee on behalf of the Pro, Patria and Naval Veterans Clubs, said it was the Britannia Branch, which is installing a cocktail lounge.

He asked that Legions which serve only beer be exempt from the new licensing tax, if approved by the legislature.

He said that these branches were not operating at a profit. In fact "they are a little behind," he added.

"The committee is still considering Victoria's requests, which also include the power to license vehicles delivering and picking up goods in the city, although they belong to businesses elsewhere; power to tax carnivals; license vending machines and establish bylaws regulating use of Thetis Lake Park."

Two Injured In Sunday Car Crashes

Two people are in St. Joseph's Hospital today following car accidents on Sunday.

A two-car collision at Douglas and the Trans-Canada Highway at 5 p.m. sent a passenger Mrs. Muriel Hunter, 1334 Harrison, to hospital with back and leg injuries. She is reported in good condition.

Saanich police said a car driven south on Douglas by Marian Haynes, 117 King George Terrace, collided with another driven west on the Trans-Canada Highway by Albert Handgraft, 1022 Summit.

Two hours later Langford ambulance took Gunther Rohleder, 3430 Cedar Hill Road, to hospital from the scene of a crash on Prince Robert Drive.

Mr. Rohleder suffered head and back injuries and is in "fairly good" condition today, a hospital spokesman said.

UBC Student Wins Fellowship

Robert S. Thomson of Victoria has been named one of 67 Canadian winners of the coveted Woodrow Wilson fellowship for graduate study.

Mr. Thomson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Thomson, 2164 Cadboro Bay Road. A graduate of West Vancouver High School, he is a fourth year honors student of foreign languages at University of British Columbia.

The Woodrow Wilson fellowship is valued at over $1,000.

68TH JUMP UNLUCKY

'Chutist Breaks Leg In Saanich Landing

BY MICHAEL ROSE

A Vancouver parachutist broke a leg Sunday in an accident while jumping with the Victoria Sky Diving Club.

He is in good condition today at St. Joseph's Hospital. A veteran of 68 jumps, Roger Gelin, 34, was injured when he landed on rock patch near the "target area" behind the Wilkinson Road Mental Hospital.

It was the first accident for the five-month old Victoria club and was described as a "freak" by club representative Gerald W. Walker, 824 McClellan.

Currently boasting a nucleus of five trained members, the VSDC was formed in November by Walker, a former member of the Vancouver Sky Diving Club.

JUMP SATURDAYS

"We usually aim for Saturday as a jump day," he said, "and if the weather is unsuitable we try again Sunday."

He defined unsuitable weather as ceiling under 2,500 feet and wind over 15 miles an hour.

The club jumps from a four-seat, Tri-Pacer aircraft supplied by the Victoria Flying Club and flown by one of its instructors.

A door on the left side from the rear seat is removed before take-off and the "diver" stands on the wheel strut before jumping.

Mr. Walker said Gelin had left the plane at 5,000 feet and opened his chute after 1,800 feet of free fall.

He said all jumpers must open their chutes before or at 2,200 feet minimum to give sufficient time to open a reserve chute in case of malfunction.

Altimeters are carried on top of the reserve chute which is worn on the chest and attached to the same harness as the main umbrella.

"We are not daredevils," said Mr. Walker, "and we respect the term because it implies irresponsibility."

"Actually we are very safety-conscious."

When a man or woman joins a sky diving club he is carefully screened and watched to make sure he is "the right type."

"We try to eliminate everyone with a possible tendency to excitement or instability," said the spokesman.

He explained that accidents did not occur to well-trained, calm jumpers who kept their heads but almost invariably to people who panicked when something went wrong.

MOCK-UPS

The prospective sky diver is schooled in wearing of proper equipment and its use, and then trained in takeoff and landing technique using mock-ups on the ground.

Finally the candidate is taken aloft and makes his first jump using a static line attached to the aircraft to open his chute.

Four more of these jumps are made before he makes his first free fall, in which he opens the chute himself.

THREE SECONDS

Mr. Walker said beginners are told to open their chutes after three seconds on this jump and then to extend gradually the period as they gain experience and confidence.

Unlike army training which is concerned with getting the man down to flight as quickly as possible, in one piece of course, the sky divers try to prolong the flight period.

SPREADEAGLED

To achieve this they launch themselves spreadeagled with arms and legs outstretched, face down. This not only extends the flight but provides control so the jumper can turn in the air and even alter his direction of fall.

There are more than 25 clubs in Canada and many more throughout the world.

A Canadian team will compete at the world championships this summer at Orange, Mass., and will be selected at elimination jumps in Winnipeg prior to that.

In competition, the diver is marked on his technique before the chute opens and on how close he lands to a cross in the middle of the target area.

The Victoria club is ready to enlist new members but Mr. Walker said only four people could be trained at one time and more than that would have to be put on a waiting list.

"We jump because we like it," he said. "It is a new experience."

B.C. Cold-Shoulders Banking Commission

The B.C. government today ignored an invitation to appear before the federal royal commission on banking and finance at its first of its cross-Canada hearings.

Chief Justice David Porter, chairman of the newly-formed commission, said he addressed a written invitation to Premier Bennett to attend the commission's first hearing in Victoria.

He received no reply and a member of his staff phoned the premier's office to ask if he or his government would be represented. The answer was non-committal.

However, the seven-man commission met in the Empress Hotel at 9:15 this morning in case the government wanted to make a last-minute appearance.

ADJOURNED

"Is there any representative from the provincial government?" asked Chief Justice Porter.

Receiving no answer, he adjourned the hearing until 11:15 a.m. when the B.C. Bond Dealers' Association presented the one and only brief submitted here.

A further call to Premier Bennett's office revealed that the premier was attending a cabinet meeting.

"I have extended a formal invitation to all Canadian premiers to attend our hearings across Canada," the chief justice told the Times.

"We must assume therefore that the B.C. government does not wish to make any submissions to us."

Another member of the commission said it would appear that Premier Bennett did not wish to submit Social Credit monetary theories to a federal commission.

The chief justice said Premier Manning of Alberta had answered his invitation intimating that he would be represented when the commission meets in Edmonton March 19.

The major hearings will be held in Ottawa in July, September and possibly in November.

FIRST SINCE 1933

Purpose of the hearings, the chief justice said, is to make an extensive study of Canada's banking and monetary system—the first since 1933 when a similar commission headed by Lord Macmillan of London, submitted a report which led to establishment of the Bank of Canada.

SNOW LEAVES GENTLE REMINDER

A brief snowstorm Saturday night and Sunday morning left a sprinkling on the city, a crust on Saanich and Sidney, a thick layer on Brentwood, and practically nothing on the Malahat.

The city's snowfall, measured as 0.7 inch mixed with rain, occurred between 8:50 and 10:20 p.m. In Saanich and Brentwood the snow fell in big, soggy flakes, and Sooke escaped completely.

"We had about 15 minutes of snow Sunday morning, and it melted as it hit the ground," a Malahat resident said.

Traffic was not affected. There will be scattered clouds tonight and "mostly sunny" skies Tuesday, according to the weatherman.

Introduce Wash 'n' Wear To Men in Your Family

By PENNY SAVER

Ever get to the point where you could almost throw your hands up in despair when confronted with a basket of ironing? Especially when the ironing consists mainly of white shirts for the men in the family.

Most men are extremely fussy about their white shirts too, and nothing short of perfection will please them.

Well, throw away those ironing day blues, girls. I've seen some white shirts that will make your life pleasant from here on in.

They're something new, the first broadcloth shirts to be guaranteed wash-and-wear and the first men's or ladies' shirt to receive the Chateleine seal of approval. Sounds good? Read on, if you're even better.

Shirts are also 100 per cent safe in bleach because there's no resin in the fabric. Just think, a shirt that won't turn yellow!

All you do is wash, spin, tumble dry and hang them up. Few small wrinkles that are left will come out when shirt is on hanger.

The shirts come in collars, sizes from 14 1/2 to 17 1/2 in all sleeve lengths, with short point semi-spread collars and two-way cuffs that can be buttoned or worn with cuff links. The price is the most wonderful feature of this exciting new shirt, only $6.

In most cases boys tend to sprout up faster than they fill out. Ever run into that problem? Makes buying shirts for the lads a big problem, they're too tall for boys' sizes and too slender to fill out men's sizes.

Manufacturers of men's clothing have finally come out with new teens shirt sizing that will solve this problem. They have extra length that is a "must" for clothes-conscious young men. Sizes range from 14 to 20 teen.

Among the new teen sizes that include slacks; coats, sweaters and shirts I saw some of the ever-popular gingham check shirts.

They're pancho style, in other words, a "pop-over" and have a buttoned collar and shirt-tail cut. Colors are pale blue, black, brown and olive and the price is only $3.98.

If you're anxious to know where I saw these "front page items" in shirts, call me and I'll be glad to tell you the name of the shop.

TODAY'S RECIPE

APPLE HERMIT

One cup seedless raisins, 1 cup shortening, 1 1/2 cups brown sugar firmly packed, 1/4 cup molasses, 3 eggs unbeaten, 3 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tsp. baking soda, 3 tps. cinnamon, 1/2 tsp. nutmeg, 1 cup chopped walnuts, 1 cup finely-chopped raw apples, peeled.

So they'll be plump and tender, rinse raisins in hot water and drain on absorbent paper. Cream shortening with brown sugar until light and fluffy. Add molasses. Add unbeaten eggs one at a time, beating after each addition. Mix and sift flour, salt, baking soda and spices. Add to molasses mixture. Mix lightly. Stir in walnuts, chopped apples and plumped raisins. Mix well. Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven 350° for 12 to 15 minutes or until done. Makes about seven dozen cookies.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't Count Up the Years To See How Old You Are

Today, those who measure age in years rather than in physical condition and mental attitude are just plain old-fashioned! They are not up to date! They might as well wear a bustle or use a mustache, cup, or wear their dresses down to their ankles or think the world is ending when they hear a jet overhead.

I was interested in hearing about a physical examination a friend of mine was given not long ago by a very distinguished diagnostician.

The doctor said, "In this office we do not think of age chronologically but biologically."

As any physician will tell you, it is entirely possible for a man or woman to be 10 years younger physically than another of the same age. It is a question of condition, not years. Yet folks cling to the idea that they are as old or as young as the number of years they have lived. How dreary!

I suppose that the idea that years are the measure of a person's age is a relaxing one for those who just want to relax, for those who do not really want the challenge of new experiences and new thoughts. However, I am certain that it is numbing to many who feel young and ARE young and who would get a terrific bang out of life if they had not been made age conscious by group thinking. Some folks are old at 20 while others are young at 80. If you judge by zest for life, some folks are gay to be with, stimulating and rewarding at 80, while others are dull and discouraging at 20.

The correlation between physical health and a vibrant outlook is so close that I do not suppose anyone knows which has the greater effect on the other.

Anyway, don't become age conscious, except in a sensible way, and don't be TOO sensible!

DEAR ABBY...

He Causes Knitted Brows!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The boy behind me in Freshman English brings a knitting bag to school and knits in class! He appears to be normal in every respect, but how can this be? At first everyone giggled and made remarks, but now nobody pays any attention to it. He is very good-looking, clean-cut and polite, but a little on the effeminate side. I would really like to get to know him better but my girl friends tell me there must be something wrong with him. Can a boy be normal and knit in public?

ON THE LEVEL. DEAR ABBY: He certainly can. And any male who knits in public is obviously masculine enough to defend himself.

DEAR ABBY: I think I am psychic. My husband is in the Navy and stands guard duty now and then. When he has guard duty, he has to sleep at the barracks. Something told me, the last time he said he had guard duty, that he really didn't and that he went out with another woman instead. I did some checking and found out he got a buddy to take his duty and he did not sleep at the barracks. When I told him I knew he wasn't at the barracks, he admitted it, but denied there was a woman in the picture. Should I believe him? And how do you account for my knowing as much as I did without being PSYCHIC?

DEAR PSYCHIC: Call it a combination of knowing your own husband and a woman's intuition. Believe him this time, but don't give him too much rope or he'll skip again.

time, but don't give him too much rope or he'll skip again.

DEAR ABBY: Tell UNUSUAL BREED that he is not as "unusual" as he thinks he is. As a young man, some fifty years ago, I determined to stay "pure" for the woman I married. And I have known many other young men along life's way who had the same idea. From a backward look

Hawaiian Holiday

Rev. and Mrs. A. I. Higgins returned by air from Hawaii on Sunday where they have been visiting at Waikiki Beach for the past two weeks. Also returning from Hawaii on Sunday were Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Decker who have been vacationing there for two months. Other Victorians still in the sunny isles include Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Watt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Peterkin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Knight, Mr. and Mrs. T. Bailey and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Walker.

California Visit

Mrs. C. W. Bradshaw, 703 Linden Ave., left Victoria by air on Sunday for Oakland, Calif., where she will spend a month visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Blade.

Coffee Party

Mrs. E. C. Lewis entertained at a coffee party in her Despard Avenue home on Friday morning in honor of her daughter, Miss Susan Lewis, who recently returned to Victoria from London, England, where she was on the staff of Harper's Bazaar magazine.

In London

Victorians who visited London, Eng., recently and signed the guest register at British Columbia House include Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. P. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Long and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Collier.

Bridge-Tea

Mrs. R. Owen, president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Gorge Road Hospital, will convene a bridge-tea to be held at the hospital on Wednesday. Bridge will begin at 2 p.m. with tea being served at 3 p.m.

Assisting Mrs. Owen will be executive members: Mrs. C. Douglas, Mrs. J. W. English, Mrs. E. Ash, Mrs. R. G. Aitken, Mrs. A. Curtis, Mrs. P. Jackson, Mrs. V. Melbye and Mrs. H. Jackson.

Proceeds will be donated to the hospital's hydrotherapy project. A home-cooking staff will be a popular feature of the affair.

Tickets may be obtained at the hospital, EV 6-2464 or from any auxiliary member.

Mrs. P. A. Gibbs, left, and Mrs. Daryl Elford, president and vice-president of the Lady Laurier Club of Oak Bay, make a final check of arrangements for the group's coffee party to be held in the Hudson's Bay

Douglas Room on Wednesday from 11 to 1:30 p.m. A home-cooking staff will be featured, and all proceeds will be used for the club's scholarship fund. Mrs. Alan Macfarlane, honorary president, will assist Mrs. Gibbs and Mrs. Elford in receiving guests.

Smith-Willson Vows Exchanged In Centennial United Church

Centennial United Church was scene of a ceremony on Friday evening that united Valerie Marie Smith and Brian John Willson. Rev. S. J. Parsons officiated.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Martin Smith, 600 Atkins Avenue and R. Willson, Burns Lake, B.C., and Mrs. M. Schneider, Las Vegas, Nevada.

Tulips, roses and daffodils decorated the church for the occasion. Mrs. Margaret Wilmshurst was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a full-length white organza gown with short sleeves. Tiny appliqued flowers were featured on the bodice and ruffles extended from the waist to hip-line of skirt. Tiny pearls formed the crown that held her chapel-length veil. Her bouquet was red roses.

Main of honor, Jean Mallock, and bridesmaids, Mrs. W. L. Smith and Mrs. David Baird all wore identical blue dresses with matching accessories and blue whimsie head pieces. They carried white carnations in their bouquets.

Best man was Bill Rosemus and ushering guests to their pews were brother of the bride, Bill Smith and brother of the groom, Clint Willson.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Colwood hall, a three-tier cake centred the bride's table, with vases of blue iris. Daffodils and iris decorated the guests' tables.

Maft LaMont proposed a toast. Mrs. Julia Listrom travelled from Percival, Sask., to attend the wedding.

The bride donned a blue tweed dress with matching quaise brocade and matching whimsie hats and accessories. They wore single strand pearl necklaces, gifts of the bride, and carried cascade bouquets of pink rapture roses, pink hyacinths and heather.

Best man was Norman Wilkinson and ushering guests to their pews were Norman Oldfield, Barry Wharf and Glen Higgins.

CGIT girls in uniform acted as candlelighters in the church and formed an honor guard as the bridal party left after the wedding.

Reception was held in the Fellowship Hall. Head table was centred with a three-tier cake, flanked with pink and white carnations and freesia.

Robert Gillespie, uncle of the bride, proposed a toast.

Dusty blue boucie suit over a white pleated blouse with jeweled neckline, surf blue wool topcoat, blue flowered hat and bone accessories were chosen by the bride for her travelling costume. She wore a white orchid corsage.

The couple spent their honeymoon on the Oregon coast and are now making their home at 2136 Pentland Road.

Married in First United Church

Dorothy Sharon Philbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gordon Philbrook, 465 Arnold Avenue, was married last month in First United Church to William Allan Macdonald, son of Mrs. Norman Carver, 1166 Transit Road, and the late Robert Macdonald.

Rev. A. J. Higgins and Rev. Stanley Sears officiated at the ceremony.

The church was decorated with trailing ivy, white call lilies, pink tulips and pink and white carnations. Margaret Thomson Dean was soloist, accompanied by William McNeill at the organ.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full-length princess style gown in white chiffon velvet with embossed floral neckline. Her three-tier scalloped veil was held with a coronet of gardenia petals and white velvet leaves. She carried a white Bible topped with a cascading bouquet of white gardenias. Only jewelry was a pearl brooch belonging to her great-grandmother.

Maid of honor, Cathy Hatch, bridesmaid, Diane Philbrook and junior bridesmaids, Barbara Scott and Linda Robinson, wore identical dresses of turquoise brocade and matching whimsie hats and accessories. They wore single strand pearl necklaces, gifts of the bride, and carried cascade bouquets of pink rapture roses, pink hyacinths and heather.

Best man was Norman Wilkinson and ushering guests to their pews were Norman Oldfield, Barry Wharf and Glen Higgins.

Fine Ensemble Features Stirring Mozart Program

By AUDREY JOHNSON

An outstanding ensemble performance provided a stirring musical experience on Sunday for the large Victoria Symphony audience at the Royal Theatre.

One of the world's greatest spiritual masterworks, Mozart's Requiem Mass in D minor, was the climax of an all-Mozart program and proved one of the finest presentations of the season.

Victoria College Students' Choir, which had been prepared by its director, Professor Boyce Gaddes, joined the orchestra and soloists Margaret Abbott, June Gruber, John Dunbar and Peter Yelland, under the baton of Hans Gruber.

Results were impressive; an excellent union, balance and blend between orchestra and choir; vocalists who, both in solo and quartet revealed rich quality of tone, a mood of dedication and technical fluency.

V.I. ROUNDUP

New Tax Plan Rejected By Farmers

DUNCAN - Directors of Cowichan Agricultural Society have rejected the proposed "Bennett formula" for lowering farm assessments, and then making payment of part of the selling price to the government.

While admitting present assessments on farm land in their area are not much different than last year, they objected to the new formula on the grounds it is a "capital gains tax."

Archie Stevenson, a member of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture executive, asked for opinions in order that he may represent farmers at a meeting on the mainland next month, when alternatives to the "Bennett formula" will be requested.

John Hubert, Koksilah, said farm assessments should not be frozen since farmers are willing to bear their fair share of taxation, but they are not willing to pay increased taxes on farm land which will not produce revenue equal to its valuation as building sites.

TOFINO - A $24,000 addition, to include four two-bed wards and a doctor's suite beneath, has been proposed for Tofino General Hospital.

Work has begun on sketches, and tenders will be called after approval has been given by the BCHS.

The hospital serves the area between Ucluelet and Estevan Point, which includes the villages of Ucluelet and Tofino, fishing communities and logging camps, and the mining operations at Maggie Lake and Bedwell River.

COURTENAY - Dennis Oliver Newman escaped death Saturday when the sports car he was driving skidded into the Courtenay River.

The car was coming out of a turn on the Dyke Road when it skidded out of control. Police say the pavement was dry and skid marks on the road measured 103 feet. Further skid marks off the road measured 121 feet before stopping at the river.

The car was completely submerged and damage was estimated at $1,000. Newman was unhurt.

COURTENAY - Kenneth Knox was sentenced to 30 days in Oakalla when he pleaded guilty to a drunk charge for the second time in a week.

Knox, who was on social welfare, was picked up in Cumberland sitting on a curb. He told police officers that he didn't mind the sentence because he "wanted to get back to Vancouver anyway."

CAMPBELL RIVER - Credit Union directors have re-elected E. J. McHugh as president.

Peter Reeuwijk is vice-president.

Mrs. Blanche Adams and Robert Wattie have been elected to the board of directors. Remaining on the board are Mrs. L. Paul, Skip MacDonald and Bruce Sarvis.

QUALICUM BEACH - Mt. Arrowsmith Branch, Canadian Red Cross Society, has started a month-long drive in this area to raise $1,900.

Campaign chairman is W. G. Symons.

PORT ALBERT - Richard Ciccarina, Victoria artist, won the place of honor in the second annual jury show of the Alberni Valley Art Group with a painting entitled "The Politicians."

Second place went to Allen Devereux of Alberni and winners of honorable mention were Phil Harrison, Port Alberni and Alice Allin, Peggy Larsen and Herbert Seibner, all of Victoria.

A jury consisting of Jack Shadbolt, Leroy Jensen and Ian McNaughton selected 65 paintings from 160 submitted by Vancouver Island artists. The exhibition is in the Arts and Crafts Centre here.

City Woman Revisits Russia

This is the second in a series of articles on Russia by Mrs. Graham Odgers, wife of Dr. Graham Odgers, senior scientific officer at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich. Dr. and Mrs. Odgers spent several months in Russia, in 1961, their second trip in three years.

By MRS. PAMELA ODGERS

On arrival in Moscow, my husband had lots of news, not all of it good. But we were in the best of luck. The Sovietskaya, and had a private bathroom so life could not be so bad.

He had met and shaken hands with spaceman Gagarin and had seen the May Day parade and a brilliant display of arms and armaments of the "peace-loving" Soviet forces. The flight to the Crimea had been very cheap, but he was glad to get back to Moscow where there was more food, more variety and ice cream. He had had no mail at all. Although food was bad, people were friendly within limits and humorous, too, like the waiter in the hotel at Yalta.

After several days of eating cottage cheese and soup, Graham said, "I would like some meat, please. On the menu it says 'beefsteak'."

"Sorry, no meat."

"Then some vegetables."

"Sorry, no vegetables."

"Then why do you have a menu if there is nothing to eat?"

'The New Russia'

The waiter smiles sadly. "Ah, you should not judge Russia by this restaurant. We are sorry. The real Russia, the new Russia is being built in Asia, in the Virgin Lands. All our young people go there, they are building socialism, they are planting new fields—the land of the future."

"Oh. And what do they have on the menu there? In Asia there is no menu!"

Next day Graham had a small piece of pork.

The astronomers were friendly and anxious to please and when talking about food they mentioned optimistically that there was a machine, an espresso coffee machine from Italy in another hotel in Yalta. So one day Graham went to the hotel, but alas, the machine was broken and no one knew how to mend it. No coffee. While they were friendly up to a point, it was very obvious that they could not go beyond that.

On one occasion Graham mentioned to a colleague who had a car that he would like to go to the old Tartar capital, Bakhiserai, and the man agreed to take him. The days passed and nothing happened. Graham even offered to pay for the gas, and the man passed Graham walking along the road but he never picked him up.

They're Careful

Many small incidents like this hurt our feelings at first, but we ultimately realized that they dare not be too friendly to a person from the West. There is no more terror now, but it could be quickly rekindled and they have to be careful.

Our room in the Sovietskaya was very comfortable, overlooking a large courtyard where mud turned to dust during the month of May. The leaves on the trees burst open and grew large very quickly. There was no grass anywhere. Apartment buildings backed on the square and children played.

SNAG IN PEACE TALKS MAY DELAY CEASE-FIRE

EVIAN, France (UPI)—The French-Algerian peace talks slowed down sharply after hitting a series of snags today. Conference sources said a cease-fire agreement now may be delayed by several days.

PARIS (Reuters)—A 30-minute protest strike against extremist terrorism tied up Paris today as the government banned private plane flights to forestall rightist attacks when an Algerian peace treaty is signed.

The strike, called by students and Roman Catholic, socialist, and Communist trade unions, stopped subways and buses and closed factories and offices.

The strike was in protest against Saturday's extremist blast in which a truckload of explosives blew up outside a pro-Communist "movement for peace" meeting, killing three persons and wounding about 50.

RASMINSKY REPORTS

'Cheap' Dollar Economic Spur

OTTAWA (CP)—The decline in the Canadian dollar's value has given the country a special opportunity to tackle the job of economic adjustment, Louis Rasminsky said today in his first annual report as governor of the Bank of Canada.

To seize the chance, Canada must avoid a fresh upsurge of prices and costs and "vigorously exploit the opportunities for new business now available," he said in the report tabled in the Commons by Finance Minister Fleming.

Mr. Rasminsky, who succeeded James Coyne as governor last July 24, said the decline in the exchange value of the Canadian dollar—now worth just over 95 cents in U.S. funds—has improved "the international competitive position of Canadian industry."

The world of today was "highly and increasingly competitive."

"We in Canada cannot escape this world trend, and the real determinant of our prosperity and welfare will be our ability to compete in a world of rapidly rising standards of economic productivity and efficiency."

He listed the basic requirements: "A well-trained, energetic and adaptable working population, dynamic business leadership, the imaginative application of modern technology, good marketing practices, and perhaps above all the determination to be competitive."

If those basic factors were missing, variations in the foreign exchange rate or other kinds of financial management could not compensate for their absence.

The governor outlined the reasons for last year's major increases in money supply—up nine per cent, or $1,250,000,000, to a level of $15,163,000,000 at year's end.

Mr. Rasminsky, 53, said that when he took office economic activity was rising but there was "a great deal of unemployment and unused plant capacity."

WIRE BRIEFS

Guerrillas Killed
SAIGON (AP)—About 200 Communist guerrillas were killed, mostly in air strikes, during a three-day offensive by South Viet Nam government forces in the Mekong River delta, an informant said today.

Rail Strike Vote
CHICAGO (AP)—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers announced today a strike vote will be taken among its 80,000 members in a dispute involving proposed changes in working rules on the major United States railroads.

Surgery for Eden
BOSTON (UPI)—The Lahey Clinic today announced that surgeons would perform an exploratory operation late today on Britain's former prime minister, Anthony Eden. Officials said that during a check-up, a "lesion, unrelated to previous illnesses, was found in his chest."

Settlement Close
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dr. Sture C. Linner, formerly in charge of United Nations operations in the Congo, said today the Central Congolese government and Katanga were "fairly close" to settlement of their differences.

East German Police Fire on Official Car
BERLIN (Reuters)—A British airman was reported in improved condition today following an operation for stomach wounds suffered Saturday night when East German police pumped 30 bullets into a British military car.

Reds Wound Britisher in Berlin
Medical officials in the Potsdam Hospital said the blood pressure and breathing of RAF Capt. Douglas Day were "back almost to normal." But they said "complications could still occur in this type of wound."

Day, a driver for the British military mission in East Germany, was hit when the Communists shot at the car about half a mile from the West Berlin border near Potsdam.

An officer riding in the car, Lt.-Col. Nicholas Browne, 40, escaped unhurt.

A British spokesman said a Russian liaison officer had expressed his regret to the British mission over the incident and said it would be investigated. The British also are making an investigation.

The spokesman said the car was fired on "for no reason at all." He denied an East German claim that the car ignored a halt signal and warning shots.

The shooting climaxed a day in which Russian planes released strips of aluminum foil over East Germany in an apparent attempt to disrupt Western radar control over air corridors linking West Berlin with West Germany.

The Russians also stepped up their flights in the vital corridors but today their air traffic was reduced to "a normal of less than 10 flights," allied officials said.

The officials also said there was no further dropping today of aluminum foil strips.

Six other council members were arrested earlier and charged with obstructing justice.

Arrested with Tomlin at the weekend were the brothers Bill and John Novokoshonoff, charged with attempted arson last July; Lloyd Storgoff, charged with blasting a power pole in 1953 and John Lebedoff, charged with putting a bomb on a railway track in 1954.

The jail population today stands at 31, including two debtors and two lunatics.

Workmen commenced to lay the main pipes for bringing gas into town along Store Street from the gas house. It is expected Johnson Street will be reached by March 18.

MRS. LILLIE COLVIN salt for sugar?

7 BABIES DIE

Formula Mixup Fatal

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—A seventh baby died today, apparently of poisoning from salt placed in a sugar can in a city-owned hospital. Ten other infants were stricken, three critically.

Death claimed Michele Dawn Bowser, four days old, of Binghamton, as investigators sought to pinpoint the cause of the other deaths.

The salt apparently was used by mistake in place of sugar in the infants' feeding formula at Binghamton General Hospital.

A licensed practical nurse, Mrs. Lillie Colvin, 29, who refilled the sugar container last Tuesday for the formula room was suspended by the hospital and questioned by District Attorney Stephen Smyk.

DENIES ERROR
She said she was positive she had filled the can from a sugar container. She had been with the hospital as a practical nurse for about three months.

Another nurse making a cup of coffee discovered the salt in the sugar can.

Pediatricians said an overdose of salt could upset the balance in the body and cause heart failure in a baby. The babies who died ranged from three days to eight months.

Open Mind Retained On Canada Bank Rate
OTTAWA (CP)—Governor Louis Rasminsky said today he is keeping an open mind on the question of how the Bank of Canada should set its bank rate.

Mr. Rasminsky said in his annual report that since he took office last July he has given "much consideration" to this question and discussed it with the chartered banks.

He said he hopes and expects that those interested in the question will make their views known to the royal commission on banking and finance, which opened its first hearings today in Victoria, B.C. (See story Page 15.)

"It is my present intention to keep an open mind on the matter until all those with a major interest in it have had a chance to express their opinions."

He said he expects to appear before the royal commission later this year and indicated he will deal with the question then.

Red Satellites Call for Summit

Money Available
He wouldn't say why he was going to New York, but agreed that money was "available" and "arranged" for B.C. to finance the Columbia project on its own.

The trip to New York could be to complete these arrangements.

Mr. Bennett will meet Prime Minister Diefenbaker next Monday, along with other provincial premiers, to discuss a national power grid.

Soviet Offers To Limit A-Arms 'Club'

LONDON (Reuters)—The Soviet Union is prepared to promise not to hand over nuclear weapons to other countries, providing the United States, Britain and France assume identical obligations, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said today.

Gromyko's statement was contained in a letter to Acting Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations and quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Recalling Soviet appeals to the U.S., Britain and other countries to sign a solemn and unconditional undertaking to renounce the use of nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction, Gromyko said:

"The Soviet government learned with particular satisfaction that the United Nations has now pronounced in favor of such an undertaking."

Conclusion of the agreement would help relax international tension, strengthen the trust between states, and most important, solve the problem of general and complete disarmament, he said.

"The Soviet government considers that there is no reason for putting off such an agreement."

Gromyko also called on all non-nuclear nations to promise not to produce or acquire atomic arms or permit such weapons to be stationed on their territory.

In a second letter to Thant, Gromyko said Russia attached great importance to the calling of a special conference to sign a pact banning the use of nuclear weapons.

The letters were replies to earlier letters from Thant asking for the Soviet opinion on the calling of an international conference to sign a pact banning the use of nuclear weapons and the Soviet position on an agreement to prevent the spread of atomic arms to non-nuclear countries.

New York Talks Set by Bennett
Premier Bennett will leave for power talks in Ottawa this weekend, and then he will go to New York, he disclosed today.

But apart from that he was uninformative when reporters questioned him about latest developments on the Columbia River project.

"I'm very pleased about the way things are going on power," was all he would affirm.

He had no comment about reports that Ottawa was promising a new deal involving out-right grants to finance the project.

Neither would he say anything about the "unimpeachable sources" which at the weekend said U.S. power officials had rebuffed his attempt to get a guarantee that they would buy Canada's share of Columbia downstream benefits.

MONEY AVAILABLE
He wouldn't say why he was going to New York, but agreed that money was "available" and "arranged" for B.C. to finance the Columbia project on its own.

Rusk Meets With Gromyko At Geneva

GENEVA (AP)—American State Secretary Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko spent three hours today discussing Berlin and disarmament problems without reaching any settlement.

British Foreign Secretary Home bowed out of the talks temporarily.

The discussions took place over lunch at the Soviet villa. Both men were accompanied by experts.

Rusk and Home later met Italian Foreign Minister Segni and Canadian representative Gen. E. L. M. Burns for a discussion of Western tactics at the conference.

A British source said Lord Home has stepped aside to let Rusk make the initial moves in the Western conversations with the Russians. This is a logical development, the informant said, since Britain and the United States are speaking here with one voice.

At a dinner with Rusk and Home Sunday night, Gromyko denied knowledge of Soviet harassment of air traffic in the air corridors between West Berlin and West Germany.

These Russian actions, including the seeding of the air lanes with metal chaff, are viewed in a serious light by the U.S. and British delegations, Rusk and Home delivered personal warnings on this question.

There was some speculation among Western diplomats that the Soviets were trying to provoke the United States, Britain and France into some drastic counter action in Berlin.

'Go All Out' Says Fulton
VANCOUVER (CP)—The federal government will go all out in pending meetings with Premier Bennett in an attempt to pave the way for development of the Columbia River, Justice Minister Fulton said Sunday.

The minister said Finance Minister Fleming will ask the premier to meet him when Mr. Bennett goes east for the March 19 federal-provincial conference on a national power grid.

The developments came as Attorney-General Bonner hinted Sunday that a limited number of troops may be brought into southeastern B.C. to put a psychological damper on terrorist activities which have plagued the area for more than 30 years.

Mr. Bonner said here Sunday soldiers of the permanent force could carry out their national survival training in the area.

After he met RCMP officials, union leaders and municipal officials, Mr. Bonner said, he has a new plan to control terrorism.

Indo-China Truce Team Members

OTTAWA (CP)—Nine Canadians—military and civilian—engaged in the smuggling of gold and opium within Indo-China, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today in the Commons.

The Canadians were serving with the international truce supervisory commissions in Indo-China. Seven were military and two were external affairs department clerks.

Mr. Diefenbaker said one Canadian commissioned officer and one non-commissioned officer were engaged in smuggling of gold.

Five other ranks were engaged in the smuggling of gold or opium.

Disciplinary action had been taken against these service personnel before their return to Canada.

The two external affairs department clerks had been recalled, suspended and would be dismissed.

The prime minister said the smuggling was discovered late last year.

DENIES CHARGE
Mr. Diefenbaker denied press statements attributed to Erhart Regier (CCF-Burnaby-Coquitlam) that Indo-China was a major source of narcotics supply for the North American continent.

There is no evidence whatever that narcotics were smuggled into Canada by any member of the three truce commissions, the prime minister said.

He also noted that Mr. Regier was reported in the press to have suggested that mass arrests on narcotics charges in British Columbia were connected with the Indo-China smuggling.

"Again, on the information that we have, that statement is completely mistaken."

Opium was the only narcotic involved and the authorities had said that it is rarely if ever handled by narcotics dealers in Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker said his statement is a full and complete one based on the investigations of the defence department into the activities of the RCMP into the activities of the two civilians.

The prime minister said that if any member of Parliament is in possession of any information having a bearing on the case, it should be conveyed promptly to the proper authorities.

He said the government had hoped that the matter would not become public knowledge because of the delicate situation in Indo-China.

Under ordinary circumstances, he said, the matter would not have been discussed in Parliament while it was under investigation.

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

MARCH 12

The Governor prorogued the House of Assembly by proclamation to March 19.

The Tiger engine company of the fire department at its meeting last evening, decided to give a parade on May Day, and also a ball in the evening. The two other fire companies of Victoria and Hyack engine company, New Westminster, will be invited to join in the festivities.

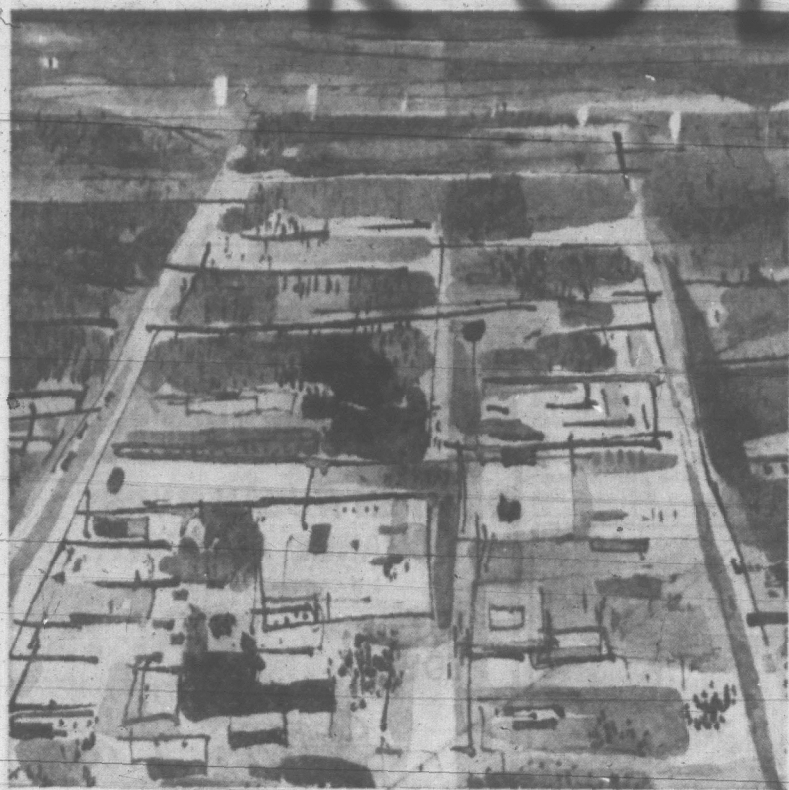

The jail population today stands at 31, including two debtors and two lunatics.

Workmen commenced to lay the main pipes for bringing gas into town along Store Street from the gas house. It is expected Johnson Street will be reached by March 18.

SKETCH of Prince George by Herbert Siebner which appeared in Times Feb. 24, portrays what artist called

"the white layouts of buildings, and the plains of snow covered streets and city squares."

THERE'S NO JOY IN 'MUDSVILLE'

The city of Prince George, suffering aches in its civic pride and pains in its pocketbook, has let The Times know in no uncertain terms that it does not subscribe to art "a la Herbert Siebner."

Mr. Siebner, probably Victoria's best-known current artist, was commissioned by The Times to do a series of sketches of points of interest in B.C., and one of them was the "plane's eye view," of Prince George, as seen from an altitude of 2,000 feet.

Far from being pleased with the attention given it, the city and its boosters are filled with wrath.

Wrote Alex Clark, president of the Prince George Chamber of Commerce:

"While the reproduction of Mr. Siebner's work may be accepted modern art, it is my opinion that your readers can only conclude that we are living in Mudsville, B.C."

"As you can see from a study of the enclosed aerial picture of a portion of Prince George, we have a modern city. We are proud of it, and we would ask you to be good enough to reproduce the picture in the Victoria Times in order to counteract the unfavorable publicity which Mr. Siebner's work has brought us."

D. C. Thacker, managing editor of the town's daily paper, wrote that a friend told him "the artist's impression does appear likely to create a public image of Prince George as some sort of prairie ghost town."

"We are spending a lot of money annually advertising for tourists, business, industry, and more people," he wrote. "The sort of publicity we got from The Times, courtesy Siebner, will not help our cause."

"Having flown over Prince George many times, I think the artist was either drunk or air sick if he saw the city as he painted it."

Skipper Considers Appeal After Reprimand Issued

Cmdr. R. H. Leir, captain of HMCS Skeena, was issued a reprimand by a court martial board Saturday, after being found guilty of "contravening standing orders."

A further charge of negligently performing a military duty was set aside.

Both charges arose out of the accidental shelling Jan. 29 of Clallam Bay, Wash., on the shore of Juan de Fuca Strait.

Cmdr. Leir was specifically found guilty of allowing the forward gun mounts to be fired when the ship was in a relative position to land which would allow the shells or shell fragments to fall within two miles of shore—which is prohibited in standing orders.

During cross-examination Friday, Cmdr. Leir stated he realized he was firing so shells might fall within two miles of land.

"To get on with the job, I took a justifiable risk," he said.

The court could have imposed penalties ranging from dismissal from the service down to a reprimand.

The sentence may be appealed during a 14-day period following receipt of the written transcript, and Cmdr. Leir said he would "consider" an appeal during this period.

AUTOMATIC REVIEW

The findings of the court will be reviewed automatically by the naval staff at headquarters before the reprimand is noted on Cmdr. Leir's service record.

In speaking prior to the sentencing, defence counsel Lloyd McKenzie detailed the unblemished, 22-year service career of Cmdr. Leir, and said that guilt in this case was sufficient punishment. He suggested the court impose a $1 fine to indicate there was guilt but no moral wrong doing.

LEADS TASK FORCE

Cmdr. Leir, who is commander of the 22nd Canadian destroyer division as well as captain of Skeena, will lead a three-ship task force on a week-long anti-submarine exercise Tuesday.

A Department of Transport official pointed out today that the vessel Oshawa mentioned in an earlier report on the court martial as being a D.O.T. ship is a Canadian Navy Auxiliary vessel.

The Oshawa is a civilian manned ex-minesweeper being used for oceanographic work in connection with the Pacific Naval Laboratories at Esquimalt.

'Fairex' Rebuffed By Socreds

A nine-man delegation representing B.C. Power Corp. shareholders from all parts of the province was rebuffed today when it sought to present a brief to a Social Credit caucus, protesting the method of the B.C. government's takeover of the B.C. Electric Co. Ltd. last August.

The delegation, led by James Clarke of Vancouver, chairman of the Fair Expropriation Practices Committee, was "dis-mayed at the refusal of the people's representatives to meet with the people," according to spokesman H. L. Matthews, Victoria lawyer.

The group plans to get around the Social Credit caucus refusal by "button-holing" individual Social Credit MLAs at the Legislative Building today and Tuesday.

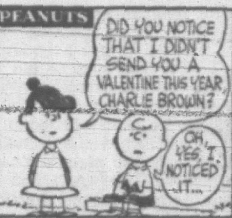

Represented in the delegation are B.C. Power shareholders' committees in Vancouver, Victoria, Powell River, Nanaimo, Port Alberni, Nelson, Vernon, Kelowna and Kamloops.

A city motorist was jailed for 25 days following his conviction in city police court today of impaired driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Lorain Carlsen, 27, Erie, was sentenced to 20 days on the impaired charge, which he admitted, and five days for failing to remain, which he denied.

City police said he collided with two cars while driving south on Quadra, near Prince, on Friday night. He was found standing on the sidewalk some two blocks from the scene of the first accident.

Magistrate William Ostler imposed the jail terms when he heard Carlsen was convicted of driving while intoxicated 10 years ago.

'The Best Cabaret In Town'

One of Victoria's Canadian Legion branches runs "the best cabaret in town," City Solicitor T. P. O'Grady, told a legislative committee this morning.

He was appearing before the legislature's private bills committee seeking amendments to Victoria's acts of incorporation.

The city wants the power to tax private clubs serving liquor.

It seeks power to impose a maximum licensing fee of $100 every six months.

Mr. O'Grady admitted the move was spurred by complaints from public liquor servers that the private clubs were cutting into their business.

ALL WELCOME

He said some clubs had practically "everyone in town" as members.

"The Legion is doing a thriving trade," he said.

One Legion branch runs "what amounts to a beer parlor" said Mr. O'Grady.

"One has as many as 2,400 members — it's the best cabaret in town."

He did not name the Legion branch.

However, Ernest McIntyre, who appeared before the committee on behalf of the Pro Patria and Naval Veterans Clubs, said it was the Britannia Branch, which is installing a cocktail lounge.

He asked that Legions which serve only beer be exempt from the new licensing tax, if approved by the legislature.

He said that these branches were not operating at a profit. In fact "they are a little behind" he added.

The committee is still considering Victoria's requests, which also include the power to license vehicles delivering and picking up goods in the city, although they belong to businesses elsewhere; power to tax carnival, license vending machines and establish bylaws regulating use of Thetis Lake Park.

Two Injured In Sunday Car Crashes

Two people are in St. Joseph's Hospital today following car accidents on Sunday.

A two-car collision at Douglas and the Trans-Canada Highway at 5 p.m. sent a passenger, Mrs. Muriel Hunter, 1334 Harrison, to hospital with back and leg injuries. She is reported in good condition.

Saanich police said a car driven south on Douglas by Marian Haynes, 117 King George Terrace, collided with another driven west on the Trans-Canada Highway by Albertus Handgraaf, 1022 Summit.

Two hours later Langford ambulance took Gunther Rohleder, 3430 Cedar Hill Road, to hospital from the scene of a crash on Prince-Robert Drive.

Mr. Rohleder suffered head and back injuries and is in "fairly good" condition today, a hospital spokesman said.

68TH JUMP UNLUCKY

'Chutist Breaks Leg In Saanich Landing

BY MICHAEL ROSE

A Vancouver parachutist broke a leg Sunday in an accident while jumping with the Victoria Sky Diving Club.

He is in good condition today at St. Joseph's Hospital.

A veteran of 68 jumps, Roger Gelin, 34, was injured when he landed on rock patch near the "target area" behind the Wilkinson Road Mental Hospital.

It was the first accident for the five-month old Victoria club and was described as a "freak" by club representative Gerald W. Walker, 824 McClure.

Currently boasting a nucleus of five trained members, the VSDC was formed in November by Walker, a former member of the Vancouver Sky Diving Club.

JUMP SATURDAYS

"We usually aim for Saturday as a jump day," he said, "and if the weather is unsuitable we try again Sunday."

He defined unsuitable weather as ceiling under 2,500 feet and wind over 15 miles an hour.

The club jumps from a four-seat, Tri-Pacer aircraft supplied by the Victoria Flying Club and flown by one of its instructors.

A door on the left side from the rear seat is removed before take-off and the "diver" stands on the wheel strut before jumping.

Mr. Walker said Gelin had left the plane at 5,000 feet and opened his chute after 1,800 feet of free fall.

He said all jumpers must open their chutes before or at 2,200 feet minimum to give sufficient time to open a reserve chute in case of malfunction.

Altimeters are carried on top of the reserve chute which is worn on the chest and attached to the same harness as the main umbrella.

"We are not daredevils," said Mr. Walker, "and we re- sistent the term because it implies irresponsibility."

"Actually we are very safety-conscious."

When a man or woman joins a sky diving club he is carefully screened and watched to make sure he is "the right type."

"We try to eliminate everyone with a possible tendency to excitement or instability," said the spokesman.

He explained that accidents did not occur to well-trained, calm jumpers who kept their heads but almost invariably to people who panicked when something went wrong.

MOCK-UPS

The prospective sky diver is schooled in wearing of proper equipment and its use, and then trained in takeoff and landing technique using mock-ups on the ground.

Finally the candidate is taken aloft and makes his first jump using a static line attached to the aircraft to open his chute.

Four more of these jumps are made before he makes his first free fall, in which he opens the chute himself.

THREE SECONDS

Mr. Walker said beginners are told to open their chutes after three seconds on this jump and then to extend gradually the period as they gain experience and confidence.

Unlike army training which is concerned with getting the man down to fight as quickly as possible, in one piece of course, the sky divers try to prolong the flight period.

SPREADEAGLED

To achieve this they launch themselves spreadeagled with arms and legs outstretched, face down. This not only extends the flight but provides control so the jumper can turn in the air and even alter his direction of fall.

There are more than 25 clubs in Canada and many more throughout the world.

A Canadian team will compete at the world championships this summer at Orange, Mass., and will be selected at elimination jumps in Winnipeg prior to that.

In competition, the diver is marked on his technique before the chute opens and on how close he lands to a cross in the middle of the target area.

The Victoria club is ready to enlist new members but Mr. Walker said only four people could be trained at one time and more than that would have to be put on a waiting list.

"We jump because we like it," he said. "It is a new experience."

SNOW LEAVES GENTLE REMINDER

A brief snowstorm Saturday night and Sunday morning left a sprinkling on the city, a crust on Saanich and Sidney, a thick layer on Brentwood, and, practically nothing on the Malahat.

The city's snowfall, measured as 0.7 inch mixed with rain, occurred between 8.50 and 10.20 p.m. In Saanich and Brentwood the snow fell in big, soggy flakes, and Sooke escaped completely.

"We had about 15 minutes of snow Sunday morning, and it melted as it hit the ground," a Malahat resident said.

Traffic was not affected. There will be scattered clouds tonight and "mostly sunny" skies Tuesday, according to the weatherman.

B.C. Cold-Shoulders Banking Commission

The B.C. government today ignored an invitation to appear before the federal royal commission on banking and finance at the first of its cross-Canada hearings.

Chief Justice Dana Porter, chairman of the newly-formed commission, said he addressed a written invitation to Premier Bennett to attend the commission's first hearing in Victoria.

He received no reply and a member of his staff phoned the premier's office to ask if he or his government would be represented. The answer was non-committal.

However, the seven-man commission met in the Empress Hotel at 9.15 this morning in case the government wanted to make a last-minute appearance.

ADJOURNED

"Is there any representative from the provincial government?" asked Chief Justice Porter.

Receiving no answer, he adjourned the hearing until 11.15 a.m. when the B.C. Bond Dealers' Association presented the one and only brief submitted here.

A further call to Premier Bennett's office revealed that the premier was attending a cabinet meeting.

"I have extended a formal invitation to all Canadian premiers to attend our hearings across Canada," the chief justice told the Times.

"We must assume therefore that the B.C. government does not wish to make any submissions to us."

Another member of the commission said it would appear that Premier Bennett did not wish to submit Social Credit monetary theories to a federal commission.

The chief justice said Premier Manning of Alberta had answered his invitation intimating that he would be represented when the commission meets in Edmonton March 19.

The major hearings will be held in Ottawa in July, September and possibly in November.

FIRST SINCE 1933

Purpose of the hearings, the chief justice said, is to make an extensive study of Canada's banking and monetary system—the first since 1933 when a similar commission headed by Lord Macmillan of London, submitted a report which led to establishment of the Bank of Canada.

"We shall make a study of interest rates, the money supply, the exchange rate on the Canadian dollar, the government's relations with the Bank of Canada, the operations of chartered banks — and any other financial matters submitted to us."

V. B. Williams, president of the Bond Dealers' Association in Vancouver, presented the only brief submitted to the commission in Victoria.

He recommended that the Bank of Canada should make arrangements to trade with local dealers up to the time business closed in British Columbia instead of during eastern banking hours.

FREE SHIPMENT

He submitted that, as the Bank of Canada does not make any charge for the shipment of bonds across Canada, the shipment of funds should also be free of charge.

In Vancouver Tuesday and Wednesday the commission will hear from the Vancouver Stock Exchange, the corporation of Burnaby, B.C. Credit Union League, B.C. Central Credit Union and the Building Owners and Managers Association.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A longshoreman hit by a pile of lumber this morning was reported in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital at press time.

Thimas D. Love, 236 Ontario, was loading lumber onto the Norwegian freighter Varangfjell at Ogden Point when the pile swung and knocked him into the water between the dock and the ship.

It was first feared Love had suffered a broken hip but on inspection at hospital he was reported to have no fractures.

The Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Douglas Building Cafeteria. Two color movies will be shown.

The Colwood PTA will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the school.

Credit Granters' Association will meet Tuesday at the Terra Cotta Room, Dominion Hotel at 6 p.m. to install new officers.

Greater Victoria Girl Guides' Association today asked city council for a $200 grant, pointing out it had to pay a $100 property tax bill to the city last year.

Prospective foster parents are invited to attend a meeting of the Family and Children's Service at Spencer House, 1951 Cook, on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

D. E. Woodsworth, executive director will speak on the topic "Is Every Foster Child a Troubled Child?"

Work is expected to start soon on Royal Jubilee Hospital's $75,000 Vancouver Island chest centre.

Tenders for the clinic, built for the B.C. Tuberculosis Society, likely will be called within a week.

The federal health department has granted $15,000 toward the building which will be run by the provincial health department.

Victoria Gladiolus Society will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in City Hall Council Chamber.

TRAFFIC FINES

UBC Student Wins Fellowship

Robert S. Thomson of Victoria has been named one of 67 Canadian winners of the coveted Woodrow Wilson Fellowship for graduates study.

Mr. Thomson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Thomson, 2164 Cadboro Bay Road. A graduate of West Vancouver High School, he is a fourth year honors student of foreign languages at University of British Columbia.

The Woodrow Wilson Fellowship is valued at over $1,500 and full tuition costs per year. Mr. Thomson intends to use the award for further study in foreign languages, primarily French and Italian, at either Yale or the University of California in Berkeley.

In 1960 he was awarded an Italian Government scholarship for a year's study at the University of Florence. To take this award he had to turn down a French scholarship for a year's study at Laval.

A consistent scholarship winner since his matriculation from high school, Mr. Thomson has also received grants from the B.C. government and the Jonathan Rogers scholarship.

He is the second local student to be named for the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship this year. Howard Lim, fourth year psychology student at Victoria College, is a fellow recipient of the award.

City Woman Revisits Russia

This is the second in a series of articles on Russia by Mrs. Graham Odgers, wife of Dr. Graham Odgers, senior scientific officer at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich. Dr. and Mrs. Odgers spent several months in Russia in 1961, their second trip in three years.

By MRS. PAMELA ODGERS
On arrival in Moscow my husband had lots of news—not all of it good. But we were in the best hotel, the Sovietskaya, and had a private bathroom so life could not be so bad.

He had met and shaken hands with spaceman Gagarin and had seen the May Day parade and a bristling armaments of "the peace-loving Soviet forces."

Mrs. Odgers flight to the Crimea had been very cheap, but he was glad to get back to Moscow where there was more food, more variety and ice cream. He had had no mail at all. Although food was bad, people were friendly within limits and humorous, too, like the waiter in the hotel at Yalta.

After several days of eating cottage cheese and soup, Graham said, "I would like some meat, please. On the menu it says 'beefsteak'."

"Sorry, no meat."
"Then some vegetables."
"Sorry, no vegetables."
"Then why do you have a menu if there is nothing to eat?"

'The New Russia'

The waiter smiles sadly. "Ah, you should not judge Russia by this restaurant. We are sorry. The real Russia, the new Russia is being built in Asia, in the Virgin Lands. All our young people go there, they are building socialism, they are planting new fields—the land of the future."

"Oh. And what do they have on the menu there? In Asia there is no menu!"

The astronomer was friendly and anxious to please and when talking about food they mentioned optimistically that there was a machine, an espresso coffee machine from Italy in another hotel in Yalta. So one day Graham went to the hotel, but, alas, the machine was broken and no one knew how to mend it. No coffee. While they were friendly up to a point, it was very obvious that they could not go beyond that.

They're Careful

Many small incidents like this hurt our feelings at first but we ultimately realized that they dare not be too friendly to a person from the West. There is no more terror now, but it could be quickly reimposed and they have to be careful.

Our room in the Sovietskaya was very comfortable, overlooking a large courtyard where mud turned to dust during the month of May. The leaves on the trees burst open and grew large very quickly. There was no grass anywhere. Apartment buildings backed on the square and children played

BULLETINS

'Obscene Name'

SEATTLE (AP)—Colin Kilburn, playing coach of the Spokane Comets of the Western Hockey League, said today he struck a Seattle fan after the spectator had called him an obscene name.

The fan, Bill S. Carr, 37, is suing Kilburn, the Seattle and Spokane hockey clubs and Spokane manager Roy McBride for $50,000 damages.

Prisoners Strike

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP)—A majority of Sing Sing's 1,800 prisoners started a sit-down strike today—protesting pending legislation which would affect time taken off sentences for good behavior.

Eden Under Knife

BOSTON (AP)—A non-malignant growth was removed today from the chest of the Earl of Avon, former British prime minister Sir Anthony Eden, in an operation in the New England Baptist Hospital.

Reds Wound Britisher In Berlin

BERLIN (Reuters)—A British airman was reported in improved condition today following an operation for stomach wounds suffered Saturday night when East German police pumped 30 bullets into a British military car.

Medical officials in the Potsdam Hospital said the blood pressure and breathing of RAF Capt. Douglas Day were "back almost to normal." But they said "complications could still occur in this type of wound."

Day, a driver for the British military mission in East Germany, was hit when the Communists shot at the car about half a mile from the West Berlin border near Potsdam.

An officer riding in the car, Lt.-Col. Nicholas Browne, 40, escaped unhurt.

A British spokesman said a Russian liaison officer had expressed his regret to the British mission over "the incident and said it would be investigated. The British are also making an investigation."

The spokesman said the car was fired on "for no reason at all." He denied an East German claim that the car ignored a halt signal and warning shots.

The shooting climaxed a day in which Russian planes released strips of aluminum foil over East Germany in an apparent attempt to disrupt Western radar control over air corridors linking West Berlin with West Germany.

The Russians also stepped up their flights in the vital corridors but today their air traffic was reduced to "a normal of less than 10 flights," allied officials said.

The officials also said there was no further dropping today of aluminum foil strips.

7 BABIES DIE

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—A seventh baby died today, apparently of poisoning from salt placed in a sugar can in a city-owned hospital. Ten other infants were stricken, three critically.

Death claimed Michele Dawn Bowser, four days old, of Binghamton, as investigators sought to pinpoint the cause of the other deaths.

The salt apparently was used by mistake in place of sugar in the infants' feeding formula at Binghamton General Hospital.

A licensed practical nurse, Mrs. Lillie Colvin, 29, who refilled the sugar container last Tuesday for the formula room was suspended by the hospital and questioned by District Attorney Stephen Smyk.

DENIES ERROR
She said she was positive she had filled the can from a sugar container. She had been with the hospital as a practical nurse for about three months.

Another nurse making a cup of coffee discovered the salt in the sugar can.

Pediatricians said an overdose of salt could upset the balance in the body and cause heart failure in a baby. The babies who died ranged from three days to eight months.

Ottawa Asked for Garrison To 'Train' in Kootenays

Attorney-General Robert Bonner today wired Prime Minister Diefenbaker calling for a garrison of troops to be stationed in B.C.'s terrorist country—the Kootenays.

Mr. Bonner made the disclosure as the legislature began its afternoon sitting.

At the same time, he told the House that he now has "expectation of success" in making arrests after the latest Kootenay bombing—destruction of a 356-foot power transmission tower last Tuesday.

Mr. Bonner asked Ottawa to station troops in the Kootenays for regular training, rather than to take any immediate action.

He feels that the presence

Soviet Offers To Limit A-Arms 'Club'

LONDON (Reuters)—The Soviet Union is prepared to promise not to hand over nuclear weapons to other countries, providing the United States, Britain and France assume identical obligations, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said today.

Gromyko's statement was contained in a letter to Acting Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations and quoted by the Soviet news agency Tass.

Recalling Soviet appeals to the U.S., Britain and other countries to sign a solemn and unconditional undertaking to renounce the use of nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction, Gromyko said:

"The Soviet government learned with particular satisfaction that the United Nations has now pronounced in favor of such an undertaking."

Conclusion of the agreement would help relax international tension, strengthen the trust between states, and, most important, solve the problem of general and complete disarmament, he said.

"The Soviet government considers that there is no reason for putting off such an agreement."

Gromyko also called on all non-nuclear nations to promise not to produce or acquire atomic arms or permit such weapons to be stationed on their territory.

He said Russia was prepared "to render every assistance" to plans for making nuclear-free zones in Africa, Central Europe, the Far East and Pacific, the near and Middle East, the Balkans and Adriatic, "and other areas of the world."

All the major powers joined Dec. 4 in the unanimous adoption at the UN General Assembly in New York of a resolution calling for an international agreement under which the world's nuclear powers would refrain from handing over nuclear weapons to non-nuclear countries, provided these countries pledged to refrain from making or otherwise acquiring the weapons.

In a second letter to Thant, Gromyko said Russia attached great importance to the calling of a special conference to sign a pact banning the use of nuclear weapons.

The letters were replies to earlier letters from Thant asking for the Soviet opinion on the calling of an international conference to sign a pact banning the use of nuclear weapons and the Soviet position on an agreement to prevent the spread of atomic arms to non-nuclear countries.

New York Talks Set by Bennett

Premier Bennett will leave for power talks in Ottawa this weekend, and then he will go to New York, he disclosed today.

But apart from that he was uninformative when reporters questioned him about latest developments on the Columbia River project.

"I'm very pleased about the way things are going on power," was all he would affirm.

He had no comment about reports that Ottawa was promising a new deal involving outright grants to finance the project.

Neither would he say anything about the "unimpeachable sources" which at the weekend said U.S. power officials had rebuffed his attempt to get a guarantee that they with him, offering to see him would buy Canada's share of Columbia downstream benefits.

He wouldn't say why he was going to New York, but agreed that money was "available" and "arranged" for B.C. to finance the project.

Rusk Meets With Gromyko At Geneva

GENEVA (AP)—American State Secretary Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko spent three hours today discussing Berlin and disarmament problems without reaching any settlement.

British Foreign Secretary Home bowed out of the talks temporarily.

The discussions took place over lunch at the Soviet villa. Both men were accompanied by experts.

Rusk and Home later met Italian Foreign Minister Segni and Canadian representative Gen. E. L. M. Burns for a discussion of Western tactics at the conference.

A British source said Lord Home has stepped aside to let Rusk make the initial moves in the Western conversations with the Russians. This is a logical development, the informant said, since Britain and the United States are speaking here with one voice.

At a dinner with Rusk and Home Sunday night, Gromyko denied knowledge of Soviet harassment of air traffic in the air corridors between West Berlin and West Germany.

These Russian actions, including the seeding of the air lanes with metal chaff, are viewed in a serious light by the U.S. and British delegations. Rusk and Home delivered personal warnings on this question.

There was some speculation among Western diplomats that the Soviets were trying to provoke the United States, Britain and France into some drastic counter action in Berlin.

'Cheap' Dollar Economic Spur

OTTAWA (CP)—The decline in the Canadian dollar's value has given the country a special opportunity to tackle the job of economic adjustment, Louis Rasminsky said today in his first annual report as governor of the Bank of Canada.

To seize the chance, Canada must avoid a fresh upsurge of prices and costs and "vigorously exploit the opportunities for new business now available," he said in the report tabled in the Commons by Finance Minister Fleming.

Mr. Rasminsky, who succeeded James Coyne as governor last July 24, said the decline in the exchange value of the Canadian dollar—now worth just over 95 cents in U.S. funds—has improved "the interna-

Open Mind Retained On Canada Bank Rate

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor Louis Rasminsky said today he is keeping an open mind on the question of how the Bank of Canada should set its bank rate.

Mr. Rasminsky said in his annual report that since he took office last July he has given "much consideration" to this question and discussed it with the chartered banks.

He said he hopes and expects that those interested in the question will make their views

Nine Truce Team Members Caught

OTTAWA (CP)—Nine Canadians—military and civilian—engaged in the smuggling of gold and opium within Indo-China, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today in the Commons.

The Canadians were serving with the international truce supervisory commissions in Indo-China. Seven were military and two were external affairs department clerks.

Mr. Diefenbaker said one Canadian commissioned officer and one non-commissioned officer were engaged in smuggling of gold.

Five other ranks were engaged in the smuggling of gold or opium.

Disciplinary action had been taken against these service personnel before their return to Canada.

The two external affairs department clerks had been recalled, suspended and would be dismissed.

The prime minister said the smuggling was discovered late last year.

DENIES CHARGE
Mr. Diefenbaker denied previous statements attributed to Erhart Regier (CCF—Burnaby-Coquitlam) that Indo-China was a major source of narcotics supply for the North American continent.

"There is no evidence whatever that narcotics were smuggled into Canada by any member of the three truce commissions," the prime minister said.

He also noted that Mr. Regier was reported in the press to have suggested that mass arrests on narcotics charges in British Columbia were connected with the Indo-China smuggling.

"Again, on the information that we have, that statement is completely mistaken."

Opium was the only narcotic involved and the authorities had said that it is rarely if ever handled by narcotics dealers in Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker said his statement is a full and complete one based on the investigations of the defence department into the activities of the RCMP into the activities of the two civilians.

The prime minister said that if any member of Parliament is in possession of any information having a bearing on the case, it should be conveyed promptly to the proper authorities.

He said the government had hoped that the matter would not become public knowledge because of the delicate situation in Indo-China.

Under ordinary circumstances, he said, the matter would not have been discussed in Parliament while it was under investigation.

The prime minister said it

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

Local veterans of the South African War of 1899 to 1902 will get their last opportunity at the end of May to attend a "party" thrown by the federal government at Ottawa in their honor. But if any want to attend, they must get there on their own steam.

Not many veterans of the Boer War will be able to afford the price of a berth to Ottawa.

Celebrations planned for those who can make the "trek" across Canada include a remembrance day ceremony for the signing of the Peace of Vereeniging on May 31, 1902, and a reunion dinner.

Victoria bird artist Fenwick Lansdowne and British bird painter Peter Scott have been trying to meet each other for the past few years, but usually just miss each other in their travels to London and New York.

They have the same mutual friends and are both well acquainted with each other's works, but they haven't yet managed a get-together.

Next month, however, the two outstanding bird painters are confident that their paths will meet. Mr. Lansdowne plans to meet Mr. Scott while on a business trip to England.

The odds are that they will meet—unless, of course, Mr. Scott has to travel to New York.

While in England, Lansdowne hopes to continue painting British birds. He will be away for about a month, returning here sometime in May.

Members of Victoria's squash fraternity who travelled to Vancouver over the weekend to contest the Pacific Northwest Championships were met with little solicitude by their hosts.

Dispersed in the first two rounds in all classes in which they entered were Andy Pitkeithly, George Evans, Gerry Davis, Dr. Bob Houston, Dr. Bill Bell, and yours truly, Douglas Hillside.

Which prompted the remark by a neighborly Vancouver matron:

"You fellas shoulda stoo'd home in the garden."

Judging by appearances one should never have recognized Speaker of the Legislature Hugh Shantz Sunday afternoon.

Clad during the debates in flowing robes, white dress shirt, cravat and tri-cornered chapeau, he is perhaps the most dapper chap in the House.

Aboard the Mv. Victoria Sunday afternoon out of Tsawwassen relaxation from the tailored efficiency of the Buildings seemed to be the order of the day.

There was the Speaker, in flannel shirt and woodsman's jacket of red and black—unobtrusively smoking a pipe and reading a paper, well removed from the discussions which were taking place in other parts of the ship.

Said the Speaker: "I was up looking at horses in the Fraser Valley." Well, you can hardly expect robes for that.

History lesson: During last week's court martial hearing defence counsel Lloyd McKenzie unwittingly let drop that the battleship HMS Prince of Wales was sunk in its engagement with the German battleship Bismarck in the Second World War.

"Whose side were you on?" he was asked outside the courtroom.

(Prince of Wales was sunk, but by Japanese dive bombers.)

SNAG IN PEACE TALKS MAY DELAY CEASE-FIRE

EVIAN, France (UPI)—The French-Algerian peace talks slowed down sharply after hitting a series of snags today. Conference sources said a cease-fire agreement now may be delayed by several days.

PARIS (Reuters)—A 30-minute protest strike against extremist terrorism tied up Paris today as the government banned private plane flights to forestall rightist attacks when an Algerian peace treaty is signed.

The strike, called by students and Roman Catholic, socialist, and Communist trade unions, stopped subways and buses and closed factories and offices.

The strike was in protest against Saturday's extremist blast in which a truckload of explosives blew up outside a pro-Communist "movement for peace" meeting, killing three persons and wounding about 50.

'Go All Out' Says Fulton

VANCOUVER (CP)—The federal government will go all out in pending meetings with Premier Bennett in an attempt to pave the way for development of the Columbia River, Justice Minister Fulton said Sunday.

The minister said Finance Minister Fleming will ask the premier to meet him when Mr. Bennett goes east for the March 19 federal-provincial conference on a national power grid.

ership; the imaginative application of modern technology, good marketing practices, and perhaps above all the determination to be competitive.

If those basic factors were missing, variations in the foreign exchange rate or other kinds of financial management could not compensate for their absence.

The governor outlined the reasons for last year's major increases in money supply—up nine per cent, or $1,250,000,000 to a level of $15,163,000,000 at year's end.

Mr. Rasminsky, 53, said that when he took office economic activity was rising but there was "a great deal of unemployment" and unused plant capacity.

Gross national product—total value of goods and services produced—rose seven per cent between the first and fourth quarters of 1961, the report said.

Such an increase indicates national output hit an annual rate of around $38,165,000,000 in the fourth quarter compared with $35,968,000,000 in the first quarter. This would put the gross national product for the year at $36,900,000,000—nearly three per cent above the $35,959,000,000 in 1960.

Today's report pointed to a reduction in the balance of payments deficit to $989,000,000 from $1,217,000,000 in 1960.

SPENDING INCREASES

The report also said:

Mr. Rasminsky expects to be a witness before the royal commission on banking and finance.

2. He is keeping an open mind on the question of how the bank rate of the central bank should be set.

3. The margin of interest rates in Canada over those in the U.S. narrowed during the year to less than one percentage point.

4. The mid-year decline in the dollar's exchange rate had increased Canadian prices of some major export and import commodities directly affected, but there had been little evidence of the increases spreading to retail prices generally.

5. Personal income increased about 5½ per cent between the first and fourth quarters of 1961 and personal expenditures rose by just under five per cent.

6. Corporation profits rose 30 per cent, on a seasonally adjusted basis, during the same period.

7. Consumer credit increased six per cent in the year, up $185,000,000 to $3,379,000,000. Chartered banks provided all but $12,000,000 of the increase.

8. The Bank of Canada's profits, paid to the federal treasury, increased to $107,693,000 from $90,176,000.

Rites Wednesday For Survivor Of Mine Disaster

Funeral services will be held Wednesday for John Alexander, 190 Regina Avenue, who died Saturday in Royal Jubilee Hospital. He was 73.

A former B.C. Electric Company employee, he was one of two survivors of the Cassidy mine disaster of 1916 and a construction worker on many Vancouver Island projects.

He is survived by the widow, Justina, at home; three sons, Nicholas and Thomas of Brentwood and George of Vancouver; five daughters; 24 grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; a brother and a sister, all of Victoria.

The service will be conducted at 3:30 p.m. in Hayward's Funeral Chapel followed by interment in Hatley Memorial Gardens.

now was necessary in the national interest to make the matter public.

Mr. Diefenbaker, urged by CCF-NDP House leader H.W. Herridge to have the offenders prosecuted in Canada, said this was impossible because the offences were committed outside Canada.

Mr. Herridge said he also hoped there would be "no shielding of anyone because of their position" by the government.

Opposition leader Lester B. Pearson said Diefenbaker should have made a detailed statement on the case when it came to light last week to prevent it being enlarged in the public eye by speculation.
